French Approve Big Three Talks At Washington

Acting Secretary

Lord Salisbury, Lord President of the British Council, today was named by Prime Minister Churchill as Acting British Foreign Secretary to fill in for the ailing Anthony Eden. Lord Salisbury also was named by Richard A. Butler, Britain's acting cabinet leader, as British representative in the proposed stop-gap meeting among the Big Three Powers to discuss common problems in advance of the proposed Bermuda conference.

Dulles Says July 10 Date Meets Okay of Paris; Has News Parley

Washington, June 30 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the French government has approved holding of a Big Three foreign ministers' conference here about July 10.

It was disclosed yesterday that Britain had suggested such a conference.

Dulles told a news conference one of the main reasons for a three-power meeting would be to draft a united western position toward Germany.

Unrest Is Cited

Dulles also called attention to "extensive unrest" within Russia's European satellites. He indicated the East German riots and satellite problems generally would be discussed.

Answering questions, the secretary said the new French government headed by Joseph Laniel indicated in a cable Dulles received a few minutes before the news conference that France would attend the Washington meeting.

Although billed as an informal session, there is every prospect critical cold war decisions may result from this American-British-French meeting.

Will Dominate Agenda

Far Eastern problems, especially the wars in Korea and Indo-China, undoubtedly will dominate the agenda.

But, informed officials said today, such troublesome questions as Germany's future, the British-Egyptian quarrel and North Atlantic defense problems undoubtedly will be reviewed also.

The first inkling that a foreign ministers' meeting was being planned came yesterday when the acting British Prime Minister, Richard A. Butler, told the House of Commons Britain had suggested such a get-together.

Problems Discussed

Butler said it was necessary to discuss urgent problems and to "maintain the impetus given to our foreign policy" by the plans for a later meeting between Prime Minister Churchill, President Eisenhower and French Premier Joseph Laniel at Bermuda.

The State Department, somewhat surprised that Butler talked publicly about the plans, disclosed that Secretary Dulles has agreed to the suggestion that he meet with Lord Salisbury, acting British foreign secretary.

France has been notified, with the idea that the French would send Georges Bidault, the new French foreign minister.

State Department officials, while publicly expressing the view that the conference would be "very useful," appeared privately to have some reservations.

Gamma Globulin Test in Alabama Used for Polio

Physicians Will Inoculate 30,000 Children in Effort to Save Stricken City

Montgomery, Ala., June 30 (AP)—Years of weary trial-and-error research that cost millions of dollars gets the first full-scale try-out here today in a history-making effort to save a stricken city from a polio epidemic.

The first of more than 30,000 youngsters scheduled to be inoculated with polio-resisting gamma globulin during the next four days trooped to injection stations with anxious parents this morning.

The nation's polio fighters hope this unprecedented mass inoculation will not only stop the fierce outbreak, but will also sound the death knell for future unchecked ravages of crippling infantile paralysis viruses.

67 Gallons on Hand

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has shipped in 67 gallons of the scarce GG serum today with 30,000 hypodermic needles, 15,000 syringes and stacks of other equipment.

The community itself, frightened by the daily climb of 81 polio cases, is tackling the huge inoculation job on a volunteer basis unparalleled in the city's history.

Three children have died.

The gamma globulin doesn't give permanent immunity, but experts think the month of protection it does provide will halt the pending epidemic through the worst of the hot weather "polio season."

Hundreds Will Help

At their volunteer posts in the 18 inoculating stations this morning are hundreds of citizens who are helping in the task of dressing and undressing thousands of babies and small children to give them what could be a life-saving shot in the hip.

Saving of Water Still a Necessity Despite Hard Rain

The city water situation was reported today to be "very much improved" as the result of Sunday night rains but a spokesman for the water department said sprinkling regulations would probably have to be continued for the rest of the summer.

Edmund T. Cloonan, water department superintendent, said the rains had "cut water consumption considerably," explaning that use of hoses and sprinkling devices had been greatly reduced as the result of Sunday's precipitation.

Cloonan said the city's two stand pipes, one on Glen street with a capacity of one million gallons and another on Florence street with a capacity of a half million gallons, were both full.

He explained that the situation had been particulary severe dur-

Decline Comment

Taipeh, Formosa, June 30 (AP)—Official Chinese Nationalist sources declined to comment today on reports from Bangkok that Gen. Li Mi would reject plans to evacuate 12,000 Nationalist guerrillas from North Burma. Unofficial foreign quarters speculated that the guerrillas' stand might have been influenced by President Syngman Rhee's defiance of the UN command in Korea. A four-nation commission has completed plans for disarming and evacuating to Formosa the guerrillas who fled into North Burma when South China was overrun by the Communists in 1950.

Vandenberg Gets Medal

Washington, June 30 (AP)—The air force gave Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg the Distinguished Service Medal and a parade of jet planes and marching troops in its farewell today. The Distinguished Service Medal, pinned on the retiring general's beribboned chest by Air Secretary Harold Talbott, was for "his exceptionally meritorious performance of duties as chief of staff, United States Air Force, from April 30, 1948 to June 30, 1953."

Closed Session Held

Brussels, Belgium, June 30 (AP)—Premiers and key ministers of the three Benelux countries met in a closed session here today to step up plans for a closer union. The three premiers attending were: Jean Van Houtte of Belgium, Willem Drees of The Netherlands and Pierre Dupong of Luxembourg. The countries already are united in an economic union.

6,000 Workers Strike

Bombay, India, June 30 (AP)—Nearly 6,000 civilian workers of the Indian naval dockyard here struck today as part of a one-day token strike by ordnance employes all over India. The strike intended to protest retrenchment and to demand wage hikes, is being held under Socialist auspices.

Disabled Freighter Low in Water

This water-level view of the Brazilian freighter S. S. Loide Panama shows the disabled ship wallowing low in the choppy waters of the Atlantic off Barnegat Light, N. J., June 29, after it collided with a tanker, the S. S. Gulftrade. One seaman was believed killed, several injured. Twenty-four men remained aboard the freighter after the bow of the tanker knifed into its starboard side the night of June 28 in a dense fog. The gaping hole torn in the Panama's side can be seen amidships.

Ohioville Thruway Work Begins; Delay Is Cited

Arborio Firm Will Pour Concrete Next Week on Portion From Sawkill

John Arborio, Inc., of Poughkeepsie, contractor for the Ohioville-Newburgh strip, of the New York State Thruway has moved in equipment and started work on that section A. R. Erskine, thruway authority engineer said today.

Delays in right-of-way plans for the Whiteport-Ohioville section, however, he said, will probably mean that it will not be ready for a contract letting until some time in August instead of in July as originally planned.

Arborio, who also has the contract for the Sawkill-Route 28 strip, expects to be ready to pour concrete there next week.

Newburgh-Harriman Section

Erskine said the state may advertise for bids for the Newburgh-Harriman section in July and bids for the Tarrytown approach to the thruway bridge across the Hudson will be opened in Albany July 9.

Last week's tour by state officials and engineers of the entire length of the thruway route from Buffalo to New York was considered "very successful" Erkstine said, and B. R. Tallamy, state public works superintendent and head of the thruway authority was pleased at the way contractors were "pushing the work." "The trip was a dusty one though," Erskine said.

The state men were particularly impressed with the progress made by contractors in the Kingston area, Erskine said.

Memorial Chime Clock Suggested

Committee Would Have Clock Placed in Tower at Hall

Placement of a chime clock in the city hall tower as a memorial to all veterans of all wars was suggested tentatively at a meeting of the city memorial committee last night in the office of Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk.

It was the consensus of the committee, appointed by the mayor about six months ago, that such a memorial would be particularly appropriate because the chimes would play every 15 minutes throughout the day and for years to come as a reminder of the sacrifices the veterans had made for their communities.

Opinions Solicited

James Krom, general chairman of the committee, pointed out, however, that the committee solicited the opinions of residents of the city "in order that it might be able to select the proper memorial for the city." He expressed the hope that the people of the city would either call or write, saying how they feel about the proposed chime clock and making any other suggestions they may have.

The clock, as proposed, would have four faces, each six feet in diameter, would chime the quarter hours and strike on the hour and the half hour.

Would Cost $15,000

It would cost approximately $15,000 and the monies to pay for it would be raised by public subscription or general levy.

Members of the committee, besides Krom and Mayor Newkirk, and the organizations they represent, are as follows: Charles R. Stall, Colonial Camp 75, United Spanish War Veterans; Raymond K. Myer, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Harold Sanford, Company M Veterans Association; Bernhardt S. Kramer, American Legion Post 150; Albert Melville, Marine Corps League; James K. Ryan, alderman of the Tenth Ward, and Benjamin A. Storms, alderman of the Second Ward.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, June 30 (AP)—The position of the Treasury June 26: Net budget receipts, $406,129,-361.02; budget expenditures, $238,-625,819.95; cash balance, $5,171,-519,267.77; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $64,747,123,834.31; budget expenditures fiscal year, $72,795,877,342.05; budget deficit, $8,048,753,507.74; total debt, $265,-332,007,200.95; gold assets, $22,-486,906,015.36.

Police Crack Down On Drivers Passing Through Stop Signs

The Kingston Police Department issued two dozen tickets yesterday to persons passing through stop signs in the city, Police Chief Raymond VanBuren said this morning.

He said that police had been issuing a "lot of warnings" which didn't seem to have much effect and that it had been found necessary to clamp down.

The tickets are answerable at police headquarters. The penalty for the first offense is $5, for the second offense, $7.50 and for the third offense, $10. On the fourth offense the driver will be issued a summons to appear in city court.

Some Offices Are To Be Closed in July and August

Certain County Agencies Will Not Observe Hours Saturday for Summer

Certain county offices will be closed all day on Saturdays during July and August and the first Saturday in September, under provisions of a law passed by the 1953 Legislature.

The offices to observe the Saturday closing are those of the county clerk, surrogate, clerk of the board of supervisors, and the civil office of the sheriff.

Department heads of other offices appeared to be in doubt this morning as to whether or not their offices will be permitted to observe the Saturday closing.

The new law takes the form of an amendment to Section 206 of the County Law, and states that those offices enumerated in subdivision 2 of that section "shall remain closed" on Saturdays during July, August, and that part of September prior to Labor Day.

Will Extend Time

The amendment also provides that whenever the last day for filing a paper or doing or performing a certain act expires on Saturday, the time will be extended to the next business day during the period of Saturday closing.

Section 206 of the County Law enumerates the offices to which the amendment applies. It also states:

"The board (of supervisors) may fix office hours not inconsistent with this chapter or other law."

No Action Otherwise

The Ulster County Board of Supervisors has taken no action relative to Saturday closing of the offices not enumerated in the amendment.

The amendment is effective for two years.

Present 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. daily hours for all county offices during the summer months will continue in effect. Prior to enactment of the amendment, county offices were open from 9 a. m. until noon on Saturdays.

The sheriff's office will, of course, continue to have jailors and deputies on duty 24 hours a day, seven days a week for police and jail work, the amendment affecting only its civil department.

The amendment is a state-wide law, applying to all counties.

Commissioners to Meet

The city board of fire commissioners will hold its regular monthly meeting at 7:30 p. m. today at the Central Fire Station.

Soviets Pull Back Tanks From Cities; 1,300 Are Arrested

Sabotage Fire Damages Coal Field Pits in Saxony-Anhalt Region

Berlin, June 30 (AP)—Soviet tank forces gradually pulled back today from leading East German provincial cities still in the grip of martial law.

More than 1,300 new arrests by the East German government's security agents were reported in the strike-crippled steel, uranium, coal and automobile industries.

A sabotage fire inflicted heavy damage to open pit installations in the big coal field at Bitterfled, in Saxony-Anhalt, but no other serious flareup of resistance was confirmed in the Soviet zone.

14-Day Siege Ends

The 14-day siege following the June 17 workers' rebellion was reported ended in the cities of Chemnitz and Rostok. Large farming districts in Brandenburg and Mecklenburg had been turned back to civilian Communist control yesterday by Soviet command.

In Leipzig and several other centers of the rebellion, Soviet armor withdrew in an intimation that further lifting of martial law was in prospect. Many of the Red Army units patrolling East Berlin already have been recalled to their barracks.

There were other overtures to the easterners.

The anti-Communist West Berlin intelligence organization, Information-Bureau West, reported the release from two Soviet military prisons of 52 German prisoners convicted five years ago on charges of espionage and other anti-Russian activities.

Sentences Commuted

The East German Supreme Court commuted to 15 years imprisonment the death sentences of two 18-year-old youths convicted of murdering a Red secret service agent during the revolt. The court said they had been "stirred to their criminal act by propaganda of RIAS," the U. S. State Department's radio station in West Berlin.

With the relaxation of military controls, refugee traffic to West Berlin picked up. The refugee center reported 582 East Germans had applied over the weekend for political asylum. The total, however, was considerably below pre-rebellion weekends.

Mistakes Confessed

East German Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl's Communist government continued to confess its past mistakes and appeal for the workers to have faith in its new de-communization program.

Spade-bearded Communist party Secretary General Walter Ulbright, whose forced drive to Sovietize East Germany backfired in rebellion by two million workers, got slighting treatment from high German Reds today on his 60th birthday.

Ulbright, who also is a deputy premier, received no public letter of congratulation from Grotewohl on the government's behalf. That had been a standard courtesy in the past.

The East German Communist mouthpiece, Neues Deutschland, buried mention of Ulbright's anniversary on page five. But he was consoled by a telegram of good wishes from the Central Committee of the Soviet Union's Communist party in Moscow.

Ulbright's ouster from power has been predicted freely since the June 17 uprising. Political cir-

Robertson Reports Rhee Persists in Stand on Truce

Seoul, June 30 (AP)—The North Korean Red radio today promptly and coldly rejected the UN command offer to sign an armistice now on terms already agreed upon at Panmunjom.

Shortly after, president Eisenhower's special emissary to South Korea conceded that President Syngman Rhee also persisted in his refusal to accept the truce.

Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, told reporters after his fifth secret session with Rhee:

"Obviously, there are points which need clarification in our negotiations. Otherwise there would be no need for these meetings. President Rhee and I are trying to work out a solution which will be acceptable to our two governments and, at the same time, sacrifice the principles of neither."

Contrast Is Noted

Robertson's remarks contrasted with earlier expressions of optimism from himself and Rhee. He said he would meet again with Rhee Wednesday. He did not say how long he expected the conversations to continue.

Communist reaction to UN Commander Mark Clark's proposal for a truce now—irrespective of Rhee's opposition—was unexpectedly swift.

The broadcast from Pyongyang, North Korean capital, charged that Clark's letter to Communist military leaders Monday lacked "sincerity" and was "inconsistent" with the facts. It insisted there had been "connivance" between the UN Command and South Korea in Rhee's order releasing more than 27,000 anti-Communist North Korean war prisoners since June 18.

Gave No Guarantee

Pyongyang added that Clark's letter—delivered at Panmunjom through liaison officers—gave "no guarantee" on the future conduct of the South Korean government

June Bag Is 74; New Day Mark Is Set

See-Saw Fight Rages on Lookout Mountain in East — Shell Fire Heavy for Month

Seoul, June 30 (AP)—Sharpshooting Sabre Jet pilots shot down 15 Communist MIG Jets today to set a new one-day and one-month record for the Korean War.

The Sabres boosted their MIG bag for June to 74, smashing the old record of 63 set last September. And today's kill erased the old single-day mark of 13 set last July 4.

The ground war dwindled to mostly probes and skirmishes, but the Eighth Army announced that the Communists fired a record-breaking 1½ million artillery and mortar shells this month. That's more than double the number of shells fired by Red guns in any previous month of the war.

It meant that almost two shells crashed down on allied lines for every single foot of the 155-mile front—more than four for every allied soldier on the line.

Greatest Victory

The U. S. jets scored their greatest victory over the swept-wing Red jets as battered infantrymen on the western front rested momentarily from two weeks of bloody battling.

The 36th jet ace of the war emerged from afternoon battles high over North Korea. He was Lt. Henry Buttlemann of 3721 221st St., Bayside, N. Y. He scored his fifth kill to win ace status. He got his first only June 19.

Maj. James Jabara of Wichita, Kan., history's first jet ace, also had a spectacular day. He downed two MIGs to boost his kills to 14 in two combat tours. Jabara now is only two below the all-time jet mark of 16 set by Capt. Joseph McConnell Jr., of Apple Valley, Calif.

Bags 10th MIG

Col. James K. Johnson of Phoenix, Ariz., bagged his 10th MIG and became the seventh double jet ace. He also has three probables and eight damages.

The record-breaking victory came on the first day of good flying weather in nearly a week—a week that gave the Communist infantry a chance to drive forward without serious punishment from allied airpower.

While ground fighting died on most of the line, a see-saw battle still raged on the slopes of Lookout Mountain in the east. Neither the Reds nor South Korean infantrymen have been able to hold the crest in six days of attacks and counterattacks. The hill is one anchor for the ROKs new front in the Pukhan River sector.

The seriousness of the ground war was reflected in last week's estimated enemy casualty figures, which topped all weeks back to that of Nov. 17, 1951. The new total for the week ending June 28 put Red killed, wounded and prisoners at 11,200 Chinese and North Koreans. Of these, 7,500 enemy were killed and 3,700 wounded.

While allied casualties are not released by action or period, but only as isolated numbers from time to time, there is an obvious relation between Red and allied losses.

Pennsylvania Man Killed in Crash

His Car Collides Head-On With Gasoline Truck Near Catskill

Joseph L. Lehman, Jr., 25, of Mount Wolf, Pa., was killed about 2:10 p. m. Monday when the automobile he was driving collided head-on with a gasoline tank truck on Route 9W about four and a half miles south of the village of Catskill.

Dr. Mahlon H. Atkinson, Greene county coroner, ruled death was accidental, caused by a fractured skull, broken left thigh and internal injuries.

Troopers of the Catskill station reported the truck, owned by Amos Post Company, was driven by Floyd H. Coons, 56, of 62 Broad street, Catskill. Coons was treated for a broken finger and possible internal injuries, and was taken to his home, according to the report.

Both drivers were the only occupants of their vehicles.

Troopers said the tank truck was carrying 2,600 gallons of gasoline, but no fire was reported.

The accident occurred in Greene county at the point where the cement company conveyor crosses over Route 9W.

Bill Is Signed

Trenton, N. J., June 30 (AP)—Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey today signed into law a bill he said would "drive the gangsters and hoodlums off the waterfronts of New York harbor." The legislation, a joint proposal of New York and New Jersey, creates a bi-state commission to control the waterfront area. Identical measures were passed in the New Jersey and New York Legislatures last week.

Strike Is Threat

New York, June 30 (AP)—Eight thousand New York carpenters threatened today a strike which may halt 150 million dollars' worth of public and private building in the city's five boroughs. Charles W. Hanson, president of the District Council of the AFL Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners said the union had refused to join other building crafts in temporarily extending work contracts which expire at midnight tonight.

Killed in Accident

Washingtonville, June 30 (AP)—James Connelly, 30, of Washingtonville, was killed early today when his car ran off Route 94 six miles north of here and struck two trees. State police at Monroe said the area was foggy at the time of the accident. Connelly was traveling alone.

Bandits Stage Party for 20 In Woman Doctor's House

New York, June 30 (AP)—Four young bandits—with time on their hands and larceny on their minds—staged a "surprise party" yesterday for a dentist, a woman physician and 18 others.

The quartet took over for four hours the Brooklyn house used by the dentist and physician, admitting 15 patients as they arrived, robbing them of jewels and cash, and keeping them prisoner through the siege.

But the four young men, before fleeing in fright when the physician fainted, treated their victims to drinks and snacks and even returned some of the loot at the request of three patients.

It all started late in the afternoon in the three-story house owned by Dr. Sonya A. Monen, 50. She lives there and has an office there, the dentist, Dr. Irving E. Madow, rents rooms there for an office.

The four robbers, apparently in their late teens or early twenties, first invaded the dentist's ground floor offices. One youth held a pistol, two others carried switchblade knives.

Arborio Firm Will Pour Concrete Next Week on Portion From Sawkill

John Arborio, Inc., of Poughkeepsie, contractor for the Ohioville-Newburgh strip, of the New York State Thruway has moved in equipment and started work on that section A. R. Erskine, thruway authority engineer said today.

Delays in right-of-way plans for the Whiteport-Ohioville section, however, he said, will probably mean that it will not be ready for a contract letting until some time in August instead of in July as originally planned.

Arborio, who also has the contract for the Sawkill-Route 28 strip, expects to be ready to pour concrete there next week.

Newburgh-Harriman Section

Erskine said the state may advertise for bids for the Newburgh-Harriman section in July and bids for the Tarrytown approach to the thruway bridge across the Hudson will be opened in Albany July 9.

Last week's tour by state officials and engineers of the entire length of the thruway route from Buffalo to New York was considered "very successful" Erkstine said, and B. R. Tallamy, state public works superintendent and head of the thruway authority was pleased at the way contractors were "pushing the work." "The trip was a dusty one though," Erskine said.

The state men were particularly impressed with the progress made by contractors in the Kingston area, Erskine said.

Police Crack Down On Drivers Passing Through Stop Signs

The Kingston Police Department issued two dozen tickets yesterday to persons passing through stop signs in the city, Police Chief Raymond VanBuren said this morning.

He said that police had been issuing a "lot of warnings" which didn't seem to have much effect and that it had been found necessary to clamp down.

The tickets are answerable at police headquarters. The penalty for the first offense is $5, for the second offense, $7.50 and for the third offense, $10. On the fourth offense the driver will be issued a summons to appear in city court.

Some Offices Are To Be Closed in July and August

Certain County Agencies Will Not Observe Hours Saturday for Summer

Certain county offices will be closed all day on Saturdays during July and August and the first Saturday in September, under provisions of a law passed by the 1953 Legislature.

The offices to observe the Saturday closing are those of the county clerk, surrogate, clerk of the board of supervisors, and the civil office of the sheriff.

Department heads of other offices appeared to be in doubt this morning as to whether or not their offices will be permitted to observe the Saturday closing.

The new law takes the form of an amendment to Section 206 of the County Law, and states that those offices enumerated in subdivision 2 of that section "shall remain closed" on Saturdays during July, August, and that part of September prior to Labor Day.

Will Extend Time

The amendment also provides that whenever the last day for filing a paper or doing or performing a certain act expires on Saturday, the time will be extended to the next business day during the period of Saturday closing.

Section 206 of the County Law enumerates the offices to which the amendment applies. It also states:

"The board (of supervisors) may fix office hours not inconsistent with this chapter or other law."

No Action Otherwise

The Ulster County Board of Supervisors has taken no action relative to Saturday closing of the offices not enumerated in the amendment.

The amendment is effective for two years.

Present 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. daily hours for all county offices during the summer months will continue in effect. Prior to enactment of the amendment, county offices were open from 9 a. m. until noon on Saturdays.

The sheriff's office will, of course, continue to have jailors and deputies on duty 24 hours a day, seven days a week for police and jail work, the amendment affecting only its civil department.

The amendment is a state-wide law, applying to all counties.

Soviets Pull Back Tanks From Cities; 1,300 Are Arrested

Sabotage Fire Damages Coal Field Pits in Saxony-Anhalt Region

Berlin, June 30 (AP)—Soviet tank forces gradually pulled back today from leading East German provincial cities still in the grip of martial law.

More than 1,300 new arrests by the East German government's security agents were reported in the strike-crippled steel, uranium, coal and automobile industries.

A sabotage fire inflicted heavy damage to open pit installations in the big coal field at Bitterfled, in Saxony-Anhalt, but no other serious flareup of resistance was confirmed in the Soviet zone.

14-Day Siege Ends

The 14-day siege following the June 17 workers' rebellion was reported ended in the cities of Chemnitz and Rostok. Large farming districts in Brandenburg and Mecklenburg had been turned back to civilian Communist control yesterday by Soviet command.

In Leipzig and several other centers of the rebellion, Soviet armor withdrew in an intimation that further lifting of martial law was in prospect. Many of the Red Army units patrolling East Berlin already have been recalled to their barracks.

There were other overtures to the easterners.

The anti-Communist West Berlin intelligence organization, Information-Bureau West, reported the release from two Soviet military prisons of 52 German prisoners convicted five years ago on charges of espionage and other anti-Russian activities.

Sentences Commuted

The East German Supreme Court commuted to 15 years imprisonment the death sentences of two 18-year-old youths convicted of murdering a Red secret service agent during the revolt. The court said they had been "stirred to their criminal act by propaganda of RIAS," the U. S. State Department's radio station in West Berlin.

With the relaxation of military controls, refugee traffic to West Berlin picked up. The refugee center reported 582 East Germans had applied over the weekend for political asylum. The total, however, was considerably below pre-rebellion weekends.

Mistakes Confessed

East German Prime Minister Otto Grotewohl's Communist government continued to confess its past mistakes and appeal for the workers to have faith in its new de-communization program.

Spade-bearded Communist party Secretary General Walter Ulbright, whose forced drive to Sovietize East Germany backfired in rebellion by two million workers, got slighting treatment from high German Reds today on his 60th birthday.

Ulbright, who also is a deputy premier, received no public letter of congratulation from Grotewohl on the government's behalf. That had been a standard courtesy in the past.

The East German Communist mouthpiece, Neues Deutschland, buried mention of Ulbright's anniversary on page five. But he was consoled by a telegram of good wishes from the Central Committee of the Soviet Union's Communist party in Moscow.

Ulbright's ouster from power has been predicted freely since the June 17 uprising. Political cir-

Robertson Reports Rhee Persists in Stand on Truce

Seoul, June 30 (AP)—The North Korean Red radio today promptly and coldly rejected the UN command offer to sign an armistice now on terms already agreed upon at Panmunjom.

Shortly after, president Eisenhower's special emissary to South Korea conceded that President Syngman Rhee also persisted in his refusal to accept the truce.

Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, told reporters after his fifth secret session with Rhee:

"Obviously, there are points which need clarification in our negotiations. Otherwise there would be no need for these meetings. President Rhee and I are trying to work out a solution which will be acceptable to our two governments and, at the same time, sacrifice the principles of neither."

Contrast Is Noted

Robertson's remarks contrasted with earlier expressions of optimism from himself and Rhee. He said he would meet again with Rhee Wednesday. He did not say how long he expected the conversations to continue.

Communist reaction to UN Commander Mark Clark's proposal for a truce now—irrespective of Rhee's opposition—was unexpectedly swift.

The broadcast from Pyongyang, North Korean capital, charged that Clark's letter to Communist military leaders Monday lacked "sincerity" and was "inconsistent" with the facts. It insisted there had been "connivance" between the UN Command and South Korea in Rhee's order releasing more than 27,000 anti-Communist North Korean war prisoners since June 18.

Gave No Guarantee

Pyongyang added that Clark's letter—delivered at Panmunjom through liaison officers—gave "no guarantee" on the future conduct of the South Korean government

Pennsylvania Man Killed in Crash

His Car Collides Head-On With Gasoline Truck Near Catskill

Joseph L. Lehman, Jr., 25, of Mount Wolf, Pa., was killed about 2:10 p. m. Monday when the automobile he was driving collided head-on with a gasoline tank truck on Route 9W about four and a half miles south of the village of Catskill.

Dr. Mahlon H. Atkinson, Greene county coroner, ruled death was accidental, caused by a fractured skull, broken left thigh and internal injuries.

Troopers of the Catskill station reported the truck, owned by Amos Post Company, was driven by Floyd H. Coons, 56, of 62 Broad street, Catskill. Coons was treated for a broken finger and possible internal injuries, and was taken to his home, according to the report.

Both drivers were the only occupants of their vehicles.

Troopers said the tank truck was carrying 2,600 gallons of gasoline, but no fire was reported.

The accident occurred in Greene county at the point where the cement company conveyor crosses over Route 9W.

Bandits Stage Party for 20 In Woman Doctor's House

New York, June 30 (AP)—Four young bandits—with time on their hands and larceny on their minds—staged a "surprise party" yesterday for a dentist, a woman physician and 18 others.

The quartet took over for four hours the Brooklyn house used by the dentist and physician, admitting 15 patients as they arrived, robbing them of jewels and cash, and keeping them prisoner through the siege.

But the four young men, before fleeing in fright when the physician fainted, treated their victims to drinks and snacks and even returned some of the loot at the request of three patients.

It all started late in the afternoon in the three-story house owned by Dr. Sonya A. Monen, 50. She lives there and has an office there, the dentist, Dr. Irving E. Madow, rents rooms there for an office.

The four robbers, apparently in their late teens or early twenties, first invaded the dentist's ground floor offices. One youth held a pistol, two others carried switchblade knives.

Madow and a patient he was at-

June Bag Is 74; New Day Mark Is Set

See-Saw Fight Rages on Lookout Mountain in East — Shell Fire Heavy for Month

Seoul, June 30 (AP)—Sharpshooting Sabre Jet pilots shot down 15 Communist MIG Jets today to set a new one-day and one-month record for the Korean War.

The Sabres boosted their MIG bag for June to 74, smashing the old record of 63 set last September. And today's kill erased the old single-day mark of 13 set last July 4.

The ground war dwindled to mostly probes and skirmishes, but the Eighth Army announced that the Communists fired a record-breaking 1½ million artillery and mortar shells this month. That's more than double the number of shells fired by Red guns in any previous month of the war.

It meant that almost two shells crashed down on allied lines for every single foot of the 155-mile front—more than four for every allied soldier on the line.

Greatest Victory

The U. S. jets scored their greatest victory over the swept-wing Red jets as battered infantrymen on the western front rested momentarily from two weeks of bloody battling.

The 36th jet ace of the war emerged from afternoon battles high over North Korea. He was Lt. Henry Buttlemann of 3721 221st St., Bayside, N. Y. He scored his fifth kill to win ace status. He got his first only June 19.

Maj. James Jabara of Wichita, Kan., history's first jet ace, also had a spectacular day. He downed two MIGs to boost his kills to 14 in two combat tours. Jabara now is only two below the all-time jet mark of 16 set by Capt. Joseph McConnell Jr., of Apple Valley, Calif.

Bags 10th MIG

Col. James K. Johnson of Phoenix, Ariz., bagged his 10th MIG and became the seventh double jet ace. He also has three probables and eight damages.

The record-breaking victory came on the first day of good flying weather in nearly a week—a week that gave the Communist infantry a chance to drive forward without serious punishment from allied airpower.

While ground fighting died on most of the line, a see-saw battle still raged on the slopes of Lookout Mountain in the east. Neither the Reds nor South Korean infantrymen have been able to hold the crest in six days of attacks and counterattacks. The hill is one anchor for the ROKs new front in the Pukhan River sector.

The seriousness of the ground war was reflected in last week's estimated enemy casualty figures, which topped all weeks back to that of Nov. 17, 1951. The new total for the week ending June 28 put Red killed, wounded and prisoners at 11,200 Chinese and North Koreans. Of these, 7,500 enemy were killed and 3,700 wounded.

While allied casualties are not released by action or period, but only as isolated numbers from time to time, there is an obvious relation between Red and allied losses.

Bill Is Signed

Trenton, N. J., June 30 (AP)—Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey today signed into law a bill he said would "drive the gangsters and hoodlums off the waterfronts of New York harbor." The legislation, a joint proposal of New York and New Jersey, creates a bi-state commission to control the waterfront area. Identical measures were passed in the New Jersey and New York Legislatures last week.

Strike Is Threat

New York, June 30 (AP)—Eight thousand New York carpenters threatened today a strike which may halt 150 million dollars' worth of public and private building in the city's five boroughs. Charles W. Hanson, president of the District Council of the AFL Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners said the union had refused to join other building crafts in temporarily extending work contracts which expire at midnight tonight.

Killed in Accident

Washingtonville, June 30 (AP)—James Connelly, 30, of Washingtonville, was killed early today when his car ran off Route 94 six miles north of here and struck two trees. State police at Monroe said the area was foggy at the time of the accident. Connelly was traveling alone.

There are 16 directors representing the different size groups and localities in the state.

The directors were elected at the annual convention of the Savings Association League, which was held over the weekend at the Lake Placid Club, Lake Placid. This was a two-billion-dollar convention as it coincided with the attainment of two billions in assets by the state's 235 savings associations.

Among those in attendance at the convention from the Kingston Association were R. Fredrick Chidsey, secretary-treasurer; H. Van Wyck Darrow, cashier; Dwight McEntee, Jr. and Algred D. Ronder, directors; N. Jansen Fowler, attorney. They were accompanied by their wives.

Steal Palsy Bank

245 E. Strand
Kingston, N. Y.
June 25, 1953

Editor, The Freeman:

After 50 years in the grocery business, we have at last found the lowest, meanest, and most inhuman being who ever lived.

Some one entered the store, bought soda water and when my back was turned, stole a Cerebral Palsy Bank off the counter.

May those who stole the money find as much pain—in spending—as those poor crippled kids would have enjoyed having it.

Please pass this along, so other stores will be on the look-out.

Thank you,

The store is going out of business and plans to dispose of its stock as quickly as possible. The store opened last March 3 and its merchandise is of late style and materials. Will Probe Sea Crash

New York, June 30 (AP)—A coast guard board of inquiry will convene tomorrow to investigate the collision Sunday night of a freighter and tanker off New Jersey's fog-bound coast. The badly-damaged Brazilian freighter, "Loide Panama," was towed into New York harbor last night and taken to the Todd Shipyard in Brooklyn. She was ripped from deck to waterline when the American tanker, "Gulftrade," hit her amidships, near Barnegat Light. The crash, which cut a 25-foot gash in the side of the 5,408-ton ship, killed one and injured two other Brazilian crewmen. There were no other casualties reported.

Editor, The Freeman:

After 50 years in the grocery business, we have at last found the lowest, meanest, and most inhuman being who ever lived.

Some one entered the store, bought soda water and when my back was turned, stole a Cerebral Palsy Bank off the counter.

May those who stole the money find as much pain—in spending—as those poor crippled kids would have enjoyed having it.

Please pass this along, so other stores will be on the look-out.

Thank you,

Dr. C. J. Blanford, market administrator of the New York metropolitan milk marketing area, said milk production for the six months will be slightly under the same six months last year.

Blanford forecast that uniform prices, which are those actually paid to dairy farmers, will average $4.44 per hundredweight in the next six months. The actual average for the last six months of 1952 was $4.79 per hundredweight.

Prices for fluid milk (Class 1-A) sold in the marketing area will average 23 cents per hundredweight less than in the last six months of 1952, Blanford predicted. He forecast a July-December 1953 average of $5.39 per hundredweight as compared with $5.62 a year ago.

New York, June 29 (Special)—Appraisal of the estate of the late Salvatore S. Hakim of "Hakim's Paradise," Dairyland, Wawarsing, and New York, here today by the New York State Transfer Tax Department, revealed that the 55-acre Wawarsing property is valued at $11,500.

The entire estate, set at $22,197, gross value, and $15,123, net, is shared by the widow, Mrs. Helen L. H. Hakim, and a son of Rehoboth, Mass., and two daughters of Baltimore and New York.

The president of the New York cotton exporting firm of Hakim, Lawrence & Cicurel, Inc., Mr. Hakim died on December 2, 1948 at the age of 62. He came to this country in 1923 from his native Egypt and started a cotton trading firm which was later merged into the present company.

RED HOLD IS SLIPPING

The Russian attempt to blame "Western provacateurs" for the widespread uprising of Germans in Soviet Germany sounds almost like a pitiful wail. It gains nothing from being altered with feeble Communist admissions that many German complaints are justified.

The Russians really understand that the world knows this was a remarkable demonstration of bare-handed rebellion against oppressive authority—without hope of success. No provacateurs would send men to do battle against tanks with sticks and stones.

The riot-and-strike wave fanned out from East Berlin to envelop many other cities, and the Reds have been hard-pressed to bring them under control. At last reports, disturbances still were in progress in seven cities.

Altogether the Russians have arrested some 16,000 individuals for allegedly playing roles in these flare-ups and some feel the total will climb to at least 30,000. Dozens of men have been executed by firing squad, and others killed by Russian tank, burp gun and rifle fire. Even children have been mowed down.

Despite all these cruel reprisals, the Germans have gone on refusing to work, sacking Communist offices, scuttling ships, damaging mines and otherwise sowing havoc in the Soviet zone.

It can be no solace to the Russians that the allegedly docile Czechs also stirred in wrath against their masters at Pilsen and other centers. And there are reports, too, of trouble in Bulgaria and Rumania.

The Russian is pictured as a great bear whose paws pack a powerful punch and who is yet agile and alert enough to outwit a bigger enemy. But the Russian is behaving like a clumsy dinosaur who feel the ground quaking beneath him and knows no defense but to stamp wildly upon any life that falls beneath his giant feet.

The Germans have disclosed the glibness of one of the most often-heard of latter-day political axioms: that no people under a modern dictator's yoke dare rise in rebellion.

This was no full-scale revolt. But it suggests what might have happened had the Germans thought this the moment for a fight to the death. A comprehensive general strike, coupled with wholesale sabotage and continuous rioting, would be hard to combat. You cannot execute or imprison an entire population of 18 million.

The tremors from the events in East Germany have registered sharply on the seismographs in Moscow. The Russian grasp on the satellite lands has slipped. The effects of this powerful realization upon the men in the Kremlin may be profound for them and for all the world.

WITHOUT A GOVERNMENT

The French inability to form a government which will command a majority in Parliament is almost chronic. Yet it is not so bad as it sounds. After all, even though a ministry has been voted out, France is not without a government. The permanent officials remain, and the ministers who have been rejected continue to function until their successors are chosen. Necessary appropriations are passed by agreement, and France gets along.

She cannot, however, take any decisive steps. Routine matters are handled, but no agreements can be made which are sure of being carried out. This state of affairs will continue until the French get over their fear of a strong government.

Are two legislative houses necessary? Denmark, which has always had two, has just changed its constitution to abolish the upper house. Great Britain still has both the House of Lords and the House of Commons, but the power of the Lords has been reduced until now they must give way when they disagree with the Commons. France has always restricted considerably the power of its Senate, or Council, as it is now called, and there is talk of abolishing it.

'These Days'

THE CRIME RECORD

It is not too easy to understand why crime is so steadily on the increase in the United States. J. Edgar Hoover's "Uniform Crime Reports" for 1952 shows an increase in crime for that year of 8.2 per cent over 1951. The large rises are in the categories of murder, negligent manslaughter, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny and auto thefts.

The incidence of crime is too often explained as due to unfortunate environmental conditions, poverty, bad housing, lack of playgrounds, juvenile boredom. These physical factors are undoubtedly important, but they have steadily been improved in most of our large cities.

Slums existed in my childhood in New York. I recently passed through one of the worst slum areas in that city, East Harlem. Comparing it with the area where much of my childhood was spent, I find East Harlem as bad as the worst. On the other hand, other slum areas have practically been wiped out by new housing and playgrounds.

It is interesting to note that crime in cities has steadily increased since 1937, no matter what improvements have been made in environmental conditions. Also, that rural crime has increased at a slightly higher rate than in the cities. What is the nature of the American rural environment that crime should increase in areas where slum conditions do not exist?

The criminal mind is not easy to understand. For instance, with wages as high as they are and with work available, why should anyone want to be a pickpocket? The risk is great; the profits often small. Yet, in large cities, pickpocketing, particularly in dense shopping areas, increases and the skills, requiring considerable training and practice, are improved. Recently I read of a man being killed by a pair who found one dollar on him. He was an old and decrepit man who was not likely to have a sizable amount on his person. Why did this pair risk conviction for murder?

It used to be said that crime flourished where ignorance was general. This country has had more than a century of compulsory education. Every child, in most states, is required to attend at least the public schools, and in some states, the age limit is so set that the child has to go to high school. There should be fundamental literacy in most parts of the country.

Literacy is no measure of education or of character; yet it gives to the individual an opportunity to read, if not the Great Books, at least the headlines of newspapers, which prove that crime does not pay. Yet, knowing that seems to be no deterrent for the criminal mind, which always tends to believe that he can get away with it.

The incidence of broken homes cannot be ignored. The most recent figures would show that the United States has the highest divorce rate in the world—one divorce in every four marriages. Each divorce, where there are children, involves adjustments in the child's psychology which are not only difficult but are often hidden from the elders. The resentments of children are not always expressed nor, when expressed, always understood by parents. "He'll get over it" is a rationalization which may satisfy the parent, but does not solve the child's problems.

Competition among parents for the love of a child in a broken family may damage a child's character forever. The father who competes by bribery; the mother who constantly denounces an ex-husband; the multiplicity of fathers and mothers and the child's attempts to adjust to each new one provides no strengthening benefits to the child.

It is difficult to analyze the causes for the weakness of religion as a living force in American life. We have a great many religions and are, per capita, probably the most church-going of peoples. Whereas in many European and South American countries, the church is principally for women, in the United States, men go to church regularly as well.

Yet, crime increases steadily. It would be interesting if a grant were made by one of the Foundations to study the relationship of schooling and religious activities to crime. A sort of Kinsey report on the backgrounds of criminals, particularly juveniles, would perhaps show something.

With all the facilities for character-building in this country and with constantly improving environmental conditions, crime ought not to be on the increase.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

ELDERLY PEOPLE

Some years ago I met a middle-aged intelligent man who told me had just read a book in which it was stated that there was no need for physicians as whatever happened to an individual was bound to happen despite any treatment or non-treatment. That when we were born there were three layers of tissue which had to do with the growth and development of certain tissues and organs, the outer tissues, for example, having to do with the skin, hair, nails, hearing and eyesight, and the other layers with the rest of the body. The book also stated that the various tissues would live their life out and man would die when his tissues were worn out.

I was about to discuss with him how the life span had been lengthened to twice its former length, that immunity to disease was now established, that formerly fatal diseases such as diabetes and pernicious anemia were now under control and these individuals often lived the normal life span, but I felt that he was so definitely squared away for life with this philosophy, that there was nothing I could do to prove his theory at variance with the known facts of scientific medicine, that I would be wasting my time, though I do not dislike an argument.

As some may think the body grows old of itself and illness and disease have little to do with aging and death, it might be well for us to read about this from Dr. Ernst P. Boas in his book "Treatment of the Patient Past Fifty".

"All changes in the structure of the body found in the aged are not signs of senescence (growing old). The older the person, the greater the years of his exposure to external insults (illness, accidents) and the greater the possibility that his body will show scars of these illnesses and accidents. Often it is difficult to distinguish between the phenomenon of pure aging and those superimposed disease — a disease process that may be increased by the aging of the tissues. Fractures of the hip are common in old persons, the bone becomes thin and brittle, the aged person has lost some of his balance and resilience so that he falls more easily, and the weakened bone breaks more readily. Although aging plays its part, the actual fracture was an accident, it is not due to aging."

Examination of the bodies of old people always show actual cause of death though symptoms were not observed during life.

What do we learn from the above facts? Dr. Boas points out that physicians dealing with older patients should always be on the alert to distinguish disease and aging instead of just considering that the bodies of the aging are running down.

The attempt should be made to keep well each aging individual and the physician should try to prevent chronic diseases in the aged as he does acute illnesses in the young.

Scram! Scat! Shoo!

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington, (NEA)—Republican National Committee headquarters in Washington has now moved into fancy new air-conditioned office space, just a couple of blocks from the White House.

The entire headquarters staff is now all together on one floor, one flight up. There's an auto ramp in the building core which permits a few of the hot shots to park their cars only a few steps through a fire door and down the hall from their desks.

Incidentally, a part of the now-contracting International Information Administration of the State Department was moved out of this space to make room for the Republican National Committee.

Formerly the GOP organization in Washington was scattered in a hotel and a couple of other buildings. One of the buildings was so narrow that people practically had to sit on each other's laps.

Now, under the new national chairman, Leonard Hall of New York, a lot of files have been put in storage, the staff has been cut by some 50 people to a little over 100, the rent has been cut, the committee is $100,000 in the black and the goose hangs high in jovial, fat-man optimism.

The election in 1954 is going to be a breeze—if you believe what Republican spokesman say about it now.

Taxes are going to be reduced next year and there will be peace in Korea this year. Those are the two things said to count most with the voters.

No Serious Obstacles Are Foreseen

The fact that taxes are not being reduced this year is considered of minor importance. Individual income tax rates will decline automatically Jan. 1. It wouldn't do to allow the excess-profits tax to expire before individual income taxes are cut. So the EPT, as it's now called for short, will be continued till the end of the year, in fairness to the little taxpayers.

Then, with the casualty lists from Korea ended, everything will be rosy—from the Republican point of view.

The drop in farm prices is not considered a serious obstacle. This is of course the eastern thinking. It may represent a serious blind spot for Republican strategists, but that's the way they talk now.

Nor is the labor vote situation taken too seriously. The unions are getting their wage increases now in free negotiations, without government interference and without strikes. Agitation for Taft-Hartley law reform is regarded as principally the work of union officials and organizers. It is not considered representative of rank-and-file opinion.

Ike is everything and everything is Ike, who is said to have more popularity today than FDR had in 1933, at the beginning of his term. The Democrats gained 14 seats in Congress in the 1934 elections. The Republicans hope to beat that in 1954.

If they do, it will be the second time in U. S. history that a party in power has increased its congressional majority in mid-term elections. Customarily, the party in power loses seats in a mid-term election.

The Republicans won 221 of 435 congressional districts in 1952. But Ike carried 280. The hope is to build up the Republican majority in the next Congress to something like that figure.

Any Kind of Republican Will Do

No particular effort is now planned to get Republican congressional candidates pledged to support President Eisenhower's program. That apparently is not considered important, since there have been no open splits between the President and Congress thus far. Any kind of Republican will apparently do, just so he's labeled Republican.

The fight, however, will be in some 85 districts where the election last year was close. They include 40 districts in 22 states which the Republicans won with less than 55 per cent of the vote and 45 districts which the Democrats won by the same slim margin.

The Republican patronage business is gradually being straightened out. Instead of being concentrated in the White House office of the assistant to the President, Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, patronage is now being handled by National Committee headquarters. It is being linked to marginal states and districts.

The businessman cabinet is now said to have been fully indoctrinated on the importance of patronage. The plan now is to have government officials call up and say, "We need half a dozen attorneys." Or personnel men, engineers or whatever are needed.

National headquarters then picks the states from which the men should come and the state political leaders are asked to recommend candidates. But the system still isn't perfect, for in a number of states the two senators or the governor and state chairman are in rival, local political camps.

Profits Tax Problem Has Become One of Control of House by Majority Party

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 30—The Eisenhower administration has gone from the frying pan into the fire by its tactics in the House of Representatives.

The objective—to extend the excess-profits tax another six months—seemed the easier way to handle the tax dilemma, but it has proved the hardest. For the issue which has developed reaches farther than the question of extending an existing tax. Quite unnecessarily the problem has become one of legislative control of the House by the majority party, and this sort of showdown need never to have been forced because it gives the Democratic minority a chance to embarrass the majority and frustrate its purpose.

As a consequence, the situation today is that the law governing the excess-profits tax has come to the expiration point automatically and, while an extension can be voted that is retroactive, it doesn't solve the fundamental problem—why a bad tax is continued and no effort is made to substitute right away something more equitable and fair to all concerned.

Since everybody, including the administration, agrees that the excess-profits tax is a vicious device that stifles competition and aids the bigger companies at the expense of the smaller ones, there was nothing to prevent the administration from offering a substitute measure that raised the same amount of revenue.

The excess-profits tax was supposed to bring in $800,000,000 between now and the end of the year. The administration, which now estimates its deficit at $5,800,000,000 — and Senator Taft says it may run as high as $7,000,000,000 — doesn't help its standing or prestige by insisting on the $800,000,000 item when everybody knows a cut of that amount can be made in the budget expenditures.

The real answer is politics. The administration is afraid to cut off the excess-profits tax six months ahead of the time when personal income taxes are to be automatically reduced. The previous Congress voted both of these changes in the tax setup. The administration might well have come up with the necessary substitutes, but it was afraid that it couldn't repeal the excess-profits tax in June without awarding just as early to the individual the 10 per cent reduction promised them by law to become effective January 1 next.

So, instead of facing up to all the issues—including the cut in foreign aid that should have been made—the administration chose to ride roughshod over the Republicans in the House who, under the leadership of Rep. Daniel Reed of New York, felt that the campaign pledges meant at least an acquiescence in the reductions which had already been voted by the Democratic Congress and approved by the Democratic administration.

Was it worth while to bring in a special rule to threaten to force the bill to a vote and establish a precedent for by-passing committee chairmen? Or would it have been better to let Mr. Reed's bill come out of the Ways and Means Committee and try to effect a compromise on it by the amending process?

These are questions that are being asked as the whole tax problem gets farther and farther away from solution. The businesses of the country would probably have gladly accepted an extension of the excess-profits tax for six months if the administration had been willing to agree on a corporation-tax rate effective next January. As it is, the last Congress provided that on April 1, 1954, the corporation tax automatically comes down from the 52 per cent flat rate to 47 per cent. This is estimated as meaning a $2,000,000,000 reduction in revenue. Certainly the administration announcement that it wanted the 52 per cent rate continued to the end of 1954 didn't sit well with business in the face of the announcement that the treasury also wanted the excess-profits tax continued for six months. There was a general apprehension that the 52 per cent rate would be continued indefinitely—and that's too high a rate to keep if business expansion and refinancing is to be encouraged as it has been in peacetime years in the past.

The Eisenhower administration could have had a compromise any time it wanted to sit down with Chairman Reed of the House Ways and Means Committee and work one out. A flat rate of 49 per cent, beginning in January 1954, would have been accepted as a step that removed uncertainty now concerning 1954 operations. As it is, the business world faces a six-month extension of the excess-profit tax and an uncertainty concerning what will be done in 1954 with respect to the straight corporation tax when the present law comes up for action on April 1, 1954.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

It was bound to come.

President Eisenhower's weak and timid attempt to mongrelize the Republican party with domesticated Democrats in his cabinet, with queasy advances to New Deal party-crashers such as Barney Baruch and the New York Times, and other manifestations of a spirit of appeasement has finally brought a direct challenge from a mid-western Republican editor with a strong mind and a brave political spirit. The editor is Richard Lloyd Jones, the owner of the Tulsa Tribune. He is one of the few newspaper editors in the country who has stood by Republican principles when others have scampered to the banners of false leaders in the hope of being invited to the White House and "consulted" on things they know no more about than any other average person.

Jones was a Landon Republican in 1936, the fateful year of decision when an infatuated electorate turned down an honest, meat-and-potatoes American who would have cut out Roosevelt's squandering and repulsed the Communist treason within the government and probably would have kept this country out of war.

His challenge is, in effect, almost an outright repudiation of Ike as a Republican on grounds of political betrayal of the party and his promises. It was written from Oshkosh, Wis., on June 22, following the tumultuous Republican state convention at Madison.

Addressed to Sherman Adams, of the White House Palace Guard, Mr. Jones' letter said:

"I write out of grave concern for the Republican party and our country.

"No one can reach the President. He has made you the Iron Curtain behind which he has isolated himself. Poor fellow, he doesn't know that the prairie fires of a new party are being ignited now as definitely as they were in 1854.

"Does he know? Do you know what went on at Madison? Over 4,000 delegates from every county in the state met in an officially called convention to proclaim purpose and policy. There, over 4,000 Republicans booed Senator Wiley for being a Dulles-Eisenhower stool-pigeon. They booed Wiley out of the convention. They booed him out of town. He couldn't be elected dog catcher today.

"At Dartmouth the other day the President of the United States made a fool speech about 'burning books.' The President should be smart enough not to make a fool speech. He obviously wanted to take a crack at Senator Joe McCarthy. In return the Republicans of Wisconsin took a sock at 'Ike.' They cheered McCarthy until the rafters rang. Nowhere in the nation could 'Ike' get such cheers today. Was his Dartmouth speech an outburst of ignorance or jealousy?

"We elected what we were assured would be a 'business' administration. Any business that does not keep its pledges soon goes out of business. 'Ike,' the candidate, and the Republican party promised the people that they would fire the indolent and incompetent, cut the payroll and reduce taxes. Now the President says it can't be done. And his Stassen and Dulles actually pad the payroll. Did Eisenhower know he could not keep his promise when he made it? Or did he know so little about the job he wanted? Either way, he has defaulted his promise and no affable smile is going to efface the people's astonished disappointment in this betrayal.

Congressman Reed is totally right. The Republican party CAN keep its promise to the people. And it must keep its promise or go out of business. Eisenhower now complains that Truman had him licked before he got to the White House.

"What would Theodore Roosevelt do if he were in Eisenhower's place today? He would go to Congress as a militant political marshal and demand the repeal of the civil service obstruction to honesty, decency, efficiency and economy in government. But Eisenhower just can't. He isn't built that way. He is licked before he starts.

"A little token batch of low-salary, inconsequential clerks got the axe. A sham gesture. The people's disgust is growing and Eisenhower does not divert them from the alarming truth by taking back-handed slaps at Herbert Hoover, General Douglas MacArthur, and above all, Senator Joe McCarthy who has done, and is doing, more than 'Ike' has ever done to protect us from our enemy.

"In my own state, Oklahoma, as in border states, Texas, Arkansas, Missouri and Kansas, I hear the perplexed people ask, 'what has become of the militant crusader we thought we sent to the White House?' He should be in there pitching with McCarthy instead of hurling stones at him. Eisenhower misses his target just as he bombs Nevada instead of the Reds in Korea.

"Eisenhower could have ended the Korean war in victory. Instead Churchill takes the telephone and we take an immoral, humiliating defeat. Dulles is Acheson by a different name. He is dragging the Republican

RED HOLD IS SLIPPING

The Russian attempt to blame "Western provacateurs" for the widespread uprising of Germans in Soviet Germany sounds almost like a pitiful wail. It gains nothing from being altered with feeble Communist admissions that many German complaints are justified.

The Russians really understand that the world knows this was a remarkable demonstration of bare-handed rebellion against oppressive authority—without hope of success. No provacateurs would send men to do battle against tanks with sticks and stones.

The riot-and-strike wave fanned out from East Berlin to envelop many other cities, and the Reds have been hard-pressed to bring them under control. At last reports, disturbances still were in progress in seven cities.

Altogether the Russians have arrested some 16,000 individuals for allegedly playing roles in these flare-ups and some feel the total will climb to at least 30,000. Dozens of men have been executed by firing squad, and others killed by Russian tank, burp gun and rifle fire. Even children have been mowed down.

Despite all these cruel reprisals, the Germans have gone on refusing to work, sacking Communist offices, scuttling ships, damaging mines and otherwise sowing havoc in the Soviet zone.

It can be no solace to the Russians that the allegedly docile Czechs also stirred in wrath against their masters at Pilsen and other centers. And there are reports, too, of trouble in Bulgaria and Rumania.

The Russian is pictured as a great bear whose paws pack a powerful punch and who is yet agile and alert enough to outwit a bigger enemy. But the Russian is behaving like a clumsy dinosaur who feel the ground quaking beneath him and knows no defense but to stamp wildly upon any life that falls beneath his giant feet.

The Germans have disclosed the glibness of one of the most often-heard of latter-day political axioms: that no people under a modern dictator's yoke dare rise in rebellion.

This was no full-scale revolt. But it suggests what might have happened had the Germans thought this the moment for a fight to the death. A comprehensive general strike, coupled with wholesale sabotage and continuous rioting, would be hard to combat. You cannot execute or imprison an entire population of 18 million.

The tremors from the events in East Germany have registered sharply on the seismographs in Moscow. The Russian grasp on the satellite lands has slipped. The effects of this powerful realization upon the men in the Kremlin may be profound for them and for all the world.

WITHOUT A GOVERNMENT

The French inability to form a government which will command a majority in Parliament is almost chronic. Yet it is not so bad as it sounds. After all, even though a ministry has been voted out, France is not without a government. The permanent officials remain, and the ministers who have been rejected continue to function until their successors are chosen. Necessary appropriations are passed by agreement, and France gets along.

She cannot, however, take any decisive steps. Routine matters are handled, but no agreements can be made which are sure of being carried out. This state of affairs will continue until the French get over their fear of a strong government.

Are two legislative houses necessary? Denmark, which has always had two, has just changed its constitution to abolish the upper house. Great Britain still has both the House of Lords and the House of Commons, but the power of the Lords has been reduced until now they must give way when they disagree with the Commons. France has always restricted considerably the power of its Senate, or Council, as it is now called, and there is talk of abolishing it.

THE CRIME RECORD

It is not too easy to understand why crime is so steadily on the increase in the United States. J. Edgar Hoover's "Uniform Crime Reports" for 1952 shows an increase in crime for that year of 8.2 per cent over 1951. The large rises are in the categories of murder, negligent manslaughter, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny and auto thefts.

The incidence of crime is too often explained as due to unfortunate environmental conditions, poverty, bad housing, lack of playgrounds, juvenile boredom. These physical factors are undoubtedly important, but they have steadily been improved in most of our large cities.

Slums existed in my childhood in New York. I recently passed through one of the worst slum areas in that city, East Harlem. Comparing it with the area where much of my childhood was spent, I find East Harlem as bad as the worst. On the other hand, other slum areas have practically been wiped out by new housing and playgrounds.

It is interesting to note that crime in cities has steadily increased since 1937, no matter what improvements have been made in environmental conditions. Also, that rural crime has increased at a slightly higher rate than in the cities. What is the nature of the American rural environment that crime should increase in areas where slum conditions do not exist?

The criminal mind is not easy to understand. For instance, with wages as high as they are and with work available, why should anyone want to be a pickpocket? The risk is great; the profits often small. Yet, in large cities, pickpocketing, particularly in dense shopping areas, increases and the skills, requiring considerable training and practice, are improved. Recently I read of a man being killed by a pair who found one dollar on him. He was an old and decrepit man who was not likely to have a sizable amount on his person. Why did this pair risk conviction for murder?

It used to be said that crime flourished where ignorance was general. This country has had more than a century of compulsory education. Every child, in most states, is required to attend at least the public schools, and in some states, the age limit is so set that the child has to go to high school. There should be fundamental literacy in most parts of the country.

Literacy is no measure of education or of character; yet it gives to the individual an opportunity to read, if not the Great Books, at least the headlines of newspapers, which prove that crime does not pay. Yet, knowing that seems to be no deterrent for the criminal mind, which always tends to believe that he can get away with it.

The incidence of broken homes cannot be ignored. The most recent figures would show that the United States has the highest divorce rate in the world—one divorce in every four marriages. Each divorce, where there are children, involves adjustments in the child's psychology which are not only difficult but are often hidden from the elders. The resentments of children are not always expressed nor, when expressed, always understood by parents. "He'll get over it" is a rationalization which may satisfy the parent, but does not solve the child's problems.

Competition among parents for the love of a child in a broken family may damage a child's character forever. The father who competes by bribery; the mother who constantly denounces an ex-husband; the multiplicity of fathers and mothers and the child's attempts to adjust to each new one provides no strengthening benefits to the child.

It is difficult to analyze the causes for the weakness of religion as a living force in American life. We have a great many religions and are, per capita, probably the most church-going of peoples. Whereas in many European and South American countries, the church is principally for women, in the United States, men go to church regularly as well.

Yet, crime increases steadily. It would be interesting if a grant were made by one of the Foundations to study the relationship of schooling and religious activities to crime. A sort of Kinsey report on the backgrounds of criminals, particularly juveniles, would perhaps show something.

With all the facilities for character-building in this country and with constantly improving environmental conditions, crime ought not to be on the increase.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

ELDERLY PEOPLE

Some years ago I met a middle-aged intelligent man who told me had just read a book in which it was stated that there was no need for physicians as whatever happened to an individual was bound to happen despite any treatment or non-treatment. That when we were born there were three layers of tissue which had to do with the growth and development of certain tissues and organs, the outer tissues, for example, having to do with the skin, hair, nails, hearing and eyesight, and the other layers with the rest of the body. The book also stated that the various tissues would live their life out and man would die when his tissues were worn out.

I was about to discuss with him how the life span had been lengthened to twice its former length, that immunity to disease was now established, that formerly fatal diseases such as diabetes and pernicious anemia were now under control and these individuals often lived the normal life span, but I felt that he was so definitely squared away for life with this philosophy, that there was nothing I could do to prove his theory at variance with the known facts of scientific medicine, that I would be wasting my time, though I do not dislike an argument.

As some may think the body grows old of itself and illness and disease have little to do with aging and death, it might be well for us to read about this from Dr. Ernst P. Boas in his book 'Treatment of the Patient Past Fifty'.

"All changes in the structure of the body found in the aged are not signs of senescence (growing old). The older the person, the greater the years of his exposure to external insults (illness, accidents) and the greater the possibility that his body will show scars of these illnesses and accidents. Often it is difficult to distinguish between the phenomenon of pure aging and those superimposed disease — a disease process that may be increased by the aging of the tissues. Fractures of the hip are common in old persons, the bone becomes thin and brittle, the aged person has lost some of his balance and resilience so that he falls more easily, and the weakened bone breaks more readily. Although aging plays its part, the actual fracture was an accident, it is not due to aging."

Examination of the bodies of old people always show actual cause of death though symptoms were not observed during life.

What do we learn from the above facts? Dr. Boas points out that physicians dealing with older patients should always be on the alert to distinguish disease and aging instead of just considering that the bodies of the aging are running down.

The attempt should be made to keep well each aging individual and the physician should try to prevent chronic diseases in the aged as he does acute illnesses in the young.

Diabetes is a disease we should all guard against. Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington, (NEA)—Republican National Committee headquarters in Washington has now moved into fancy new air-conditioned office space, just a couple of blocks from the White House.

The entire headquarters staff is now all together on one floor, one flight up. There's an auto ramp in the building core which permits a few of the hot shots to park their cars only a few steps through a fire door and down the hall from their desks.

Incidentally, a part of the now-contracting International Information Administration of the State Department was moved out of this space to make room for the Republican National Committee.

Formerly the GOP organization in Washington was scattered in a hotel and a couple of other buildings. One of the buildings was so narrow that people practically had to sit on each other's laps.

Now, under the new national chairman, Leonard Hall of New York, a lot of files have been put in storage, the staff has been cut by some 50 people to a little over 100, the rent has been cut, the committee is $100,000 in the black and the goose hangs high in jovial, fat-man optimism.

The election in 1954 is going to be a breeze—if you believe what Republican spokesman say about it now.

Taxes are going to be reduced next year and there will be peace in Korea this year. Those are the two things said to count most with the voters.

No Serious Obstacles Are Foreseen

The fact that taxes are not being reduced this year is considered of minor importance. Individual income tax rates will decline automatically Jan. 1. It wouldn't do to allow the excess-profits tax to expire before individual income taxes are cut. So the EPT, as it's now called for short, will be continued till the end of the year, in fairness to the little taxpayers.

Then, with the casualty lists from Korea ended, everything will be rosy—from the Republican point of view.

The drop in farm prices is not considered a serious obstacle. This is of course the eastern thinking. It may represent a serious blind spot for Republican strategists, but that's the way they talk now.

Nor is the labor vote situation taken too seriously. The unions are getting their wage increases now in free negotiations, without government interference and without strikes. Agitation for Taft-Hartley law reform is regarded as principally the work of union officials and organizers. It is not considered representative of rank-and-file opinion.

Ike is everything and everything is Ike, who is said to have more popularity today than FDR had in 1933, at the beginning of his term. The Democrats gained 14 seats in Congress in the 1934 elections. The Republicans hope to beat that in 1954.

If they do, it will be the second time in U. S. history that a party in power has increased its congressional majority in mid-term elections. Customarily, the party in power loses seats in a mid-term election.

The Republicans won 221 of 435 congressional districts in 1952. But Ike carried 280. The hope is to build up the Republican majority in the next Congress to something like that figure.

Any Kind of Republican Will Do

No particular effort is now planned to get Republican congressional candidates pledged to support President Eisenhower's program. That apparently is not considered important, since there have been no open splits between the President and Congress thus far. Any kind of Republican will apparently do, just so he's labeled Republican.

The fight, however, will be in some 85 districts where the election last year was close. They include 46 districts in 22 states which the Republicans won with less than 55 per cent of the vote and 45 districts which the Democrats won by the same slim margin.

The Republican patronage business is gradually being straightened out. Instead of being concentrated in the White House office of the assistant to the President, Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, patronage is now being handled by National Committee headquarters. It is being linked to marginal states and districts.

The businessman cabinet is now said to have been fully indoctrinated on the importance of patronage. The plan now is to have government officials call up and say, "We need half a dozen attorneys." Or personnel men, engineers or whatever are needed.

National headquarters then picks the states from which the men should come and the state political leaders are asked to recommend candidates. But the system still isn't perfect, for in a number of states the two senators or the governor and state chairman are in rival, local political camps.

Profits Tax Problem Has Become One of Control of House by Majority Party

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 30—The Eisenhower administration has gone from the frying pan into the fire by its tactics in the House of Representatives.

The objective — to extend the excess-profits tax another six months—seemed the easier way to handle the tax dilemma, but it has proved the hardest. For the issue which has developed reaches farther than the question of extending an existing tax. Quite unnecessarily the problem has become one of legislative control of the House by the majority party, and this sort of showdown need never to have been forced because it gives the Democratic minority a chance to embarrass the majority and frustrate its purpose.

As a consequence, the situation today is that the law governing the excess-profits tax has come to the expiration point automatically and, while an extension can be voted that is retroactive, it doesn't solve the fundamental problem—why a bad tax is continued and no effort is made to substitute right away something more equitable and fair to all concerned.

Since everybody, including the administration, agrees that the excess-profits tax is a vicious device that stifles competition and aids the bigger companies at the expense of the smaller ones, there was nothing to prevent the administration from offering a substitute measure that raised the same amount of revenue.

The excess-profits tax was supposed to bring in $800,000,000 between now and the end of the year. The administration, which now estimates its deficit at $5,800,000,000 — and Senator Taft says it may run as high as $7,000,000,000 — doesn't help its standing or prestige by insisting on the $800,000,000 item when everybody knows a cut of that amount can be made in the budget expenditures.

The real answer is politics. The administration is afraid to cut off the excess-profits tax six months ahead of the time when personal income taxes are to be automatically reduced. The previous Congress voted both of these changes in the tax setup. The administration might well have come up with the necessary substitutes, but it was afraid that it couldn't repeal the excess-profits tax in June without awarding just as early to the individual the 10 per cent reduction promised them by law to become effective January 1 next.

So, instead of facing up to all the issues—including the cut in foreign aid that should have been made—the administration chose to ride roughshod over the Republicans in the House who, under the leadership of Rep. Daniel Reed of New York, felt that the campaign pledges meant at least an acquiescence in the reductions which had already been voted by the Democratic Congress and approved by the Democratic administration.

Was it worth while to bring in a special rule to threaten to force the bill to a vote and establish a precedent for by-passing committee chairmen? Or would it have been better to let Mr. Reed's bill come out of the Ways and Means Committee and try to effect a compromise on it by the amending process?

These are questions that are being asked as the whole tax problem gets farther and farther away from solution. The businesses of the country would probably have gladly accepted an extension of the excess-profits tax for six months if the administration had been willing to agree on a corporation-tax rate effective next January. As it is, the last Congress provided that on April 1, 1954, the corporation tax automatically comes down from the 52 per cent flat rate to 47 per cent. This is estimated as meaning a $7,000,000,000 reduction in revenue. Certainly the administration announcement that it wanted the 52 per cent rate continued to the end of 1954 didn't sit well with business in the face of the announcement that the treasury also wanted the excess-profits tax continued for six months. There was a general apprehension that the 52 per cent rate would be continued indefinitely—and that's too high a rate to keep if business expansion and refinancing is to be encouraged as it has been in peacetime years in the past.

The Eisenhower administration could have had a compromise any time it wanted to sit down with Chairman Reed of the House Ways and Means Committee and work one out. A flat rate of 49 per cent, beginning in January 1954, would have been accepted as a step that removed uncertainty now concerning 1954 operations. As it is, the business world faces a six-month extension of the excess-profit tax and an uncertainty concerning what will be done in 1954 with respect to the straight corporation tax when the present law comes up for action on April 1, 1954.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

It was bound to come.

President Eisenhower's weak and timid attempt to mongrelize the Republican party with domesticated Democrats in his cabinet, with queasy advances to New Deal party-crashers such as Barney Baruch and the New York Times, and other manifestations of a spirit of appeasement has finally brought a direct challenge from a mid-western Republican editor with a strong mind and a brave political spirit. The editor is Richard Lloyd Jones, the owner of the Tulsa Tribune. He is one of the few newspaper editors in the country who has stood by Republican principles when others have scampered to the banners of false leaders in the hope of being invited to the White House and "consulted" on things they know no more about than any other average person.

Jones was a Landon Republican in 1936, the fateful year of decision when an infatuated electorate turned down an honest, meat-and-potatoes American who would have cut out Roosevelt's squandering and repulsed the Communist treason within the government and probably would have kept this country out of war.

His challenge is, in effect, almost an outrighft repudiation of Ike as a Republican on grounds of political betrayal of the party and his promises. It was written from Oshkosh, Wis., on June 22, following the tumultuous Republican state convention at Madison.

Addressed to Sherman Adams, of the White House Palace Guard, Mr. Jones' letter said:

"I write out of grave concern for the Republican party and our country.

"No one can reach the President. He has made you the Iron Curtain behind which he has isolated himself. Poor fellow, he doesn't know that the prairie fires of a new party are being ignited now as definitely as they were in 1854.

"Does he know? Do you know what went on at Madison? Over 4,000 delegates from every county in the state met in an officially called convention to proclaim purpose and policy. There, over 4,000 Republicans booed Senator Wiley for being a Dulles-Eisenhower stool-pigeon. They booed Wiley out of the convention. They booed him out of town. He couldn't be elected dog catcher today.

"At Dartmouth the other day the President of the United States made a fool speech about 'burning books.' The President should be smart enough not to make a fool speech. He obviously wanted to take a crack at Senator Joe McCarthy. In return the Republicans of Wisconsin took a sock at 'Ike.' They cheered McCarthy until the rafters rang. Nowhere in the nation could 'Ike' get such cheers today. Was his Dartmouth speech an outburst of ignorance or jealousy?

"We elected what we were assured would be a 'business' administration. Any business that does not keep its pledges soon goes out of business. 'Ike,' the candidate, and the Republican party promised the people that they would fire the indolent and incompetent, cut the payroll and reduce taxes. Now the President says it can't be done. And his Stassen and Dulles actually pad the payroll. Did Eisenhower know he could not keep his promise when he made it? Or did he know so little about the job he wanted? Either way, he has defaulted his promise and no affable smile is going to efface the people's astonished disappointment in this betrayal.

Congressman Reed is totally right. The Republican party CAN keep its promise to the people. And it must keep its promise or go out of business. Eisenhower now complains that Truman had him licked before he got to the White House.

"What would Theodore Roosevelt do if he were in Eisenhower's place today? He would go to Congress as a militant political marshal and demand the repeal of the civil service obstruction to honesty, decency, efficiency and economy in government. But Eisenhower just can't. He isn't built that way. He is licked before he starts.

"A little token batch of low-salary, inconsequential clerks got the axe. A sham gesture. The people's disgust is growing and Eisenhower does not divert them from the alarming truth by taking back-handed slaps at Herbert Hoover, General Douglas MacArthur, and above all, Senator Joe McCarthy who has done, and is doing, more than 'Ike' has ever done to protect us from our enemy.

"In my own state, Oklahoma, as in border states, Texas, Arkansas, Missouri and Kansas, I hear the perplexed people ask, 'what has become of the militant crusader we thought we sent to the White House?' He should be in there pitching with McCarthy instead of hurling stones at him. Eisenhower misses his target just as he bombs Nevada instead of the Reds in Korea.

"Eisenhower could have ended the Korean war in victory. Instead Churchill takes the telephone and we take an immoral, humiliating defeat. Dulles is Acheson by a different name. He is dragging the Republican

Lonesome Gal Unmasks Self

Hollywood, June 30 (AP)—Lonesome Gal, seductive-voiced radio star, performs a little strip tease today and sheds her famous mask.

The reason for the shedding is a sound one. She is shrewd enough to know that any gimmick can be overdone. Also, her fan mail has tipped her to a new idea.

When she first started, her mail, averaging 1,000 letters a month, used to be about 10 to 1 male over female. Lately, it has switched to 7 to 3 female over male.

"So I decided from now on I'll slant my show more toward the women, giving beauty hints and so forth," she said.

She has adhered so rigidly to the no-picture policy that she and her husband never before had posed together—not even for a wedding picture.

Yes, fellows, Lonesome Gal has been married for four years and is quick to credit her husband for boosting her into the better than $100,000-a-year income bracket.

She is Jean King Rousseau, wife of Bill Rousseau, veteran radio producer and director who was one of the originators of "Dragnet."

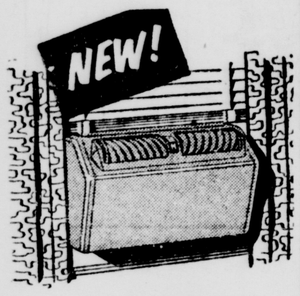

An attractive brunette of 29, she was born in Dallas, Tex., but lived most of her life out here.

The whole show is carried on in a $90,000 home in the San Fernando Valley. A studio is located by the swimming pool, and there the two make the transcriptions used by 60 stations throughout the country.

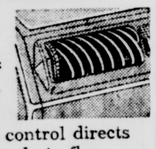

Even her next-door neighbors aren't aware that she is anything but a housewife.

Pin Store to A&P

By FRANK TRIPP

The curbside pinwheel store is almost extinct. Only an occasional lemonade stand survives the early days of youngster merchandising. Sixty years ago kids blazed the trail for the chain stores.

The pin store business grew to quite extensive proportions in the 90s. There were retailers, wholesalers, branch stores and traveling solesmen. Not only was the pinwheel the major item in stock, but the lowly common pin was the medium of exchange. Mothers had to lock their pins in sewing machine drawers.

Everything offered at pinwheel stands along residential streets was made of paper, some quite elaborate creations. Youth's Companion and St. Nicholas carried instructions which the kids followed with amazing skill.

The pinwheel, made from a square of paper cut diagonally from the corners, looped to the center and pinned to a stick, is about the simplest homemade toy ever devised. Elaboration of it and color glorification borned the pinwheel store.

* * *

FLASHILY COLORED glazed paper was a prime requisite. Trade followed the kids who had color and gloss to sell. Little merchants whose parents bought the most and best clothes had the edge; from the fancy wrappings and linings which then came generously with every clothing, shoe and packing box. Thus the bon ton districts had the flossiest stands.

To serve the trade in the more lowly neighborhoods, the smart back streeters shopped these bon ton stands, brought back gay creations, upped the price and supplied kids who had no bicycles and couldn't shop around.

That created the wholesaler. Traveling salesmen arrived regularly with samples of what was being shown on West Church Street. Soon back street stands also displayed the latest—and became "shopping centers."

* * *

COMPETITION gave the big shots, who controlled the flashy paper supply, a bright idea. Branch stores would lick this small stand inroad on their business.

They didn't quite dare open stands where neighborhood kids might resort to reprisals, besides they had to have a shopping center location; a curb in front of a native's house. So they cooked up deals with the amenable, appointed exclusive retailers and gave 'em inside prices; "factory controlled branches."

Does it all sound like anything you've heard of in modern business? Believe it or not, kids were doing it back when the Atlantic & Pacific and Grand Union were selling from wagons. The pinwheel stands were the first multiple outlets in almost any city. Did a child lead the way—who knows?

I HAD a "branch" right across the street from the man who ran the only A&P store in an area that later had a half dozen. He was paid about $15 a week as manager, had to earn the rest through commissions on store sales.

This man inserted what is believed to be the first A&P advertisement in a newspaper. The company wouldn't advertise, so he bought a half column ad and paid for it out of his commissions.

The ad paid off, upped his earnings. He bought more and bigger ads and printed more and more. The Elmira store was making monkeys of bigger stores and A&P moguls sat up and took notice of Dan O'Neill's enterprise.

* * *

DAN used to stop by my little pinwheel stand and talk kindly to me. I never sold him a pinwheel but we became close friends and I sold him plenty of paper products in later years.

This pioneer who showed the way to the world's biggest retailer died a regional A&P manager; buying double trucks of advertising in dozens of newspapers for scores of stores, and bought many from me.

Now Dan's son pulls my teeth —or did.

Iron Out Your Meld Problems

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"The opponents," writes a Chicago correspondent, "had their initial meld of 120 points with three kings and a joker as one meld, together with two sixes and a deuce as another meld—all put down by one opponent.

"After a round or two of play, the other opponent tried to meld out concealed with three melds: six nines and a joker; three sevens, and two kings with two deuces.

"My partner and I said the concealed hand couldn't go out with the meld of kings since they would have to be added to the initial meld of kings. If the concealed hand could go out, would the kings (added to the initial meld) be considered a canasta?"

The player is allowed to meld out, but does not get the bonus for melding out concealed. He gets merely the normal bonus of 100 points for melding out.

The player's meld of two kings with two deuces must be added to the initial meld of three kings with a joker. Since these two melds must be joined, the player must add to the initial meld and therefore cannot meld out concealed. The mere fact that the player cannot meld out concealed does not, however, prevent him from melding out altogether. He still melds out.

The addition of all the kings and the wild cards makes a canasta of kings. Hence the player is entitled to the bonus of 300 points for a mixed canasta. This is more than the bonus for going out, so the player gains rather than loses by joining all the kings into one meld.

Q—In a game of samba two ladies are playing as one team against their husbands. The ladies meld out, catching the men with only one canasta but with all six red threes. It is understood that a certain number of points will be deducted from the previous score of the men for these six red threes, but the exact amount is in dispute.

Do they lose only 100 points for each red three, or do they lose a total of 1000 for the six red threes?

A—The amount to deduct from the previous score of the men is 1000 points for the six red threes. If they had completed two canastas, they would have been credited with a bonus of 1000 points for the six red threes. The amount to deduct from their score is exactly the same amount that you would have added to their score if they had completed two canastas.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Here today! At your Shell Dealer's

Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years

TCP*, a Shell discovered additive, now blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, puts an end to greatest cause of power loss. Actually boosts power up to 15%, sparkplug life up to 150%, by counteracting the deposits on sparkplugs and in combustion chambers.

Though you may not realize it, the chances are that your engine is delivering far less than its original horsepower.

This is because, in the average engine, deposits constantly build up on sparkplugs and in combustion chambers. These deposits actually "short-circuit" your sparkplugs causing them to misfire. They may also cause pre-ignition of the combustion mixture—resulting in severe knock. This is especially true when accelerating, climbing hills, or driving on the open highway.

This condition exists in the majority of cars on the road today.

To overcome this condition, Shell Research discovered a fuel additive, TCP. Blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, TCP stops the short-circuiting effects of the deposits on sparkplugs and controls pre-ignition of the combustion mixture. This means, for the average motorist, a power boost of up to 15%, an increase in sparkplug life of up to 150%, plus an increase in gasoline mileage!

Shell Premium with TCP is the most important advance in gasoline since the discovery of tetraethyl lead in 1922.

New and old engines benefit

If you have a new car, particularly one with a high-compression engine, Shell Premium with TCP is essential if you want it to keep on delivering its original power for the normal life of the sparkplugs. But high-compression or not, Shell Premium with TCP keeps your engine working like new.

Owners of older cars also benefit. Even if your car has gone 30,000 miles or more, your engine can get back much of its original power by the use of Shell Premium with TCP.

Shell Premium with TCP quick to act

So rapidly does Shell Premium with TCP counteract the deposits on sparkplugs and in combustion chambers that you'll feel your engine's had a tune-up before you've finished the second tankful. You enjoy that new car pep again!

Record Crowd Sees Woodstock Show; Winners Named

Woodstock, June 29—Cloudless blue skies, several novelty features as well as the many popular events combined to lure a record crowd to the seventh annual horse show sponsored by the Woodstock Riding Club, Inc., Sunday at the Ohayo Mountain ring. Entries were somewhat sparse during the pleasantly cool morning, but along with the afternoon's heat came many superlative mounts and expert riders swelling the entry lists and keying the competition to a high note of excitement.

Championships

In the always spectacular jumper division this year's championship went to Bombshell, a favorite of the day owned and ridden by Miss Patricia Worth of Wallkill. The reserve championship was captured by Brown Bomber owned by Douglas Merrifield of Wethersfield, Conn.

In the equally breathtaking working hunter division, the championship trophy was carried off by the spirited chestnut Four Roses owned by Mr. and Mrs. James A. Rooney of Loudonville. This Is It, owned by Patricia Worth won the reserve.

For the second successive year the prized ASPCA horsemanship event trophy, was awarded to Patricia Worth, and with it goes the privilege of riding in the National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden for the ASPCA Alfred B. McClay championship trophy.

The Woodstock Riding Club challenge trophy for this year went to Miss Eva Van Rijn. This trophy must be won three times in order that the participant may become the permanent possessor, and has been previously won by Miss Elaine Van Vliet, 1950, and Robert L. Smith in 1951 and '52.

Smokey, owned by Ernest Marl, Cragsmoor, claimed the championship stock horse trophy, donated by Joseph Basch, with the reserve going to Belle Lorraine owned by Miss Goldsmith.

In the elegant three-gaited saddle horse division, the championship was awarded to The Dutchess owned by Ralph Hollenbeck, of Selkirk, with the reserve won by Crebilly's Sensational Darling of the Harcourt Stables, Newburgh.

Championship Beagles Popular

George Hard, who announced the day's events, introduced a special feature early in the afternoon, an exhibition by The Sandanona Beagles. Led onto the field by their master, Morgan Wing, Jr., of Millbrook, these fascinating little dogs, numbering about 14, scampered in close formation to the signals given on a small reed-like horn by Wing. He was assisted by his wife, Anne W. Wing, whipper-in who was in turn tailed by a mischievous little Norwich terrier, mascot of the pack. It was explained that Wing follows the hunt with the pack on foot. Last fall this pack won the National Four Couple championship at the National Field Trials at Aldie, Virginia.

The afternoon was also pleasantly punctuated by another demonstration by a fine harness pony, "Little Miss Trim," and trim four-wheeled gig, driven with precise form by Fred Whiteman, Voorheesville.

New Hunter Challenge Trophy

Announcement was made that a new trophy, to be awarded at next spring's show, has been donated by Malcolm A. Grahame, who was a senior judge of this show, to be known as the working hunter championship challenge trophy, which must be won by one contestant three times for permanent ownership. Mr. Grahame, who has never missed a Woodstock horse show, was a judge at the first show seven years ago. He is the master of the Rombout Hunt of Poughkeepsie and has always shown keen interest in the activities of the Woodstock Riding Club.

The following served as judges for the day's events: Malcolm Grahame, who was assisted in the ring by his daughter Joanne Gration; Roger A. Young, who was also assisted in the ring by his daughter, Polly Young—saddle horses; and John A. Beach—western, equitation. Mrs. Herbert H. Cutler and Brigadier General Bryan Conrad were stewards for the American Horse Shows Association.

Corporal Dunn

Another personality who has never missed a Woodstock Horse Show was Cpl. Ray Dunn who was assisted during the day by Trooper Charles Teelon, and Trooper Kowaski who was accompanied during the morning session by three young troopers who are completing their state police basic training at the Bear Mountain school. Mrs. George Hard, show chairman, directed the day's activities which were paced with prompt efficiency.

Awards

Record Crowd Sees Woodstock Show; Winners Named

Woodstock, June 29—Cloudless blue skies, several novelty features as well as the many popular events combined to lure a record crowd to the seventh annual horse show sponsored by the Woodstock Riding Club, Inc., Sunday at the Ohayo Mountain ring. Entries were somewhat sparse during the pleasantly cool morning, but along with the afternoon's heat came many superlative mounts and expert riders swelling the entry lists and keying the competition to a high note of excitement.

Championships

In the always spectacular jumper division this year's championship went to Bombshell, a favorite of the day owned and ridden by Miss Patricia Worth of Wallkill. The reserve championship was captured by Brown Bomber owned by Douglas Merrifield of Wethersfield, Conn.

In the equally breathtaking working hunter division, the championship trophy was carried off by the spirited chestnut Four Roses owned by Mr. and Mrs. James A. Rooney of Loudonville. This Is It, owned by Patricia Worth won the reserve.

For the second successive year the prized ASPCA horsemanship event trophy, was awarded to Patricia Worth, and with it goes the privilege of riding in the National Horse Show at Madison Square Garden for the ASPCA Alfred B. McClay championship trophy.

The Woodstock Riding Club challenge trophy for this year went to Miss Eva Van Rijn. This trophy must be won three times in order that the participant may become the permanent possessor, and has been previously won by Miss Elaine Van Vliet, 1950, and Robert L. Smith in 1951 and '52.

Smokey, owned by Ernest Marl, Cragsmoor, claimed the championship stock horse trophy, donated by Joseph Basch, with the reserve going to Belle Lorraine owned by Miss Goldsmith.

In the elegant three-gaited saddle horse division, the championship was awarded to The Dutchess owned by Ralph Hollenbeck, of Selkirk, with the reserve won by Crebilly's Sensational Darling of the Harcourt Stables, Newburgh.

Championship Beagles Popular

George Hard, who announced the day's events, introduced a special feature early in the afternoon, an exhibition by The Sandanona Beagles. Led onto the field by their master, Morgan Wing, Jr., of Millbrook, these fascinating little dogs, numbering about 14, scampered in close formation to the signals given on a small reed-like horn by Wing. He was assisted by his wife, Anne W. Wing, whipper-in who was in turn tailed by a mischievous little Norwich terrier, mascot of the pack. It was explained that Wing follows the hunt with the pack on foot. Last fall this pack won the National Four Couple championship at the National Field Trials at Aldie, Virginia.

The afternoon was also pleasantly punctuated by another demonstration by a fine harness pony, "Little Miss Trim," and trim four-wheeled gig, driven with precise form by Fred Whiteman, Voorheesville.

New Hunter Challenge Trophy

Announcement was made that a new trophy, to be awarded at next spring's show, has been donated by Malcolm A. Grahame, who was a senior judge of this show, to be known as the working hunter championship challenge trophy, which must be won by one contestant three times for permanent ownership. Mr. Grahame, who has never missed a Woodstock horse show, was a judge at the first show seven years ago. He is the master of the Rombout Hunt of Poughkeepsie and has always shown keen interest in the activities of the Woodstock Riding Club.

The following served as judges for the day's events: Malcolm Grahame, who was assisted in the ring by his daughter Joanne Gration; Roger A. Young, who was also assisted in the ring by his daughter, Polly Young—saddle horses; and John A. Beach—western, equitation. Mrs. Herbert H. Cutler and Brigadier General Bryan Conrad were stewards for the American Horse Shows Association.

Corporal Dunn

Another personality who has never missed a Woodstock Horse Show was Cpl. Ray Dunn who was assisted during the day by Trooper Charles Teelon, and Trooper Kowaski who was accompanied during the morning session by three young troopers who are completing their state police basic training at the Bear Mountain school. Mrs. George Hard, show chairman, directed the day's activities which were paced with prompt efficiency.

Wheeler Admits He Erred in Linking Douglas to Divorce

Washington, June 30 (AP)—Rep. Wheeler (D-Ga.) said today he was wrong in linking Justice William O. Douglas to an Oregon divorce case, in his efforts to have the justice impeached.

Wheeler, still pressing his charges of "high crimes and misdemeanors" against the Supreme Court justice, told a special House Judiciary subcommittee he had listed the divorce angle on the bases of a newspaper report.

"The implication carried in the newspaper story was false," he said. "The divorce proceedings in Portland, Ore., did not involve Justice Douglas."

The Judiciary Committee is holding hearings on the impeachment resolution which Wheeler filed June 17 after Douglas stayed the execution of the convicted atom spies, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

Questions Arguments

Chairman Graham (R-Pa) and Rep. Walter (D-Pa.) of the committee questioned the validity of Wheeler's arguments.

Graham, refering him to a preliminary airing of his case by Wheeler in the House yesterday, told Wheeler that he did not consider newspaper accounts as evidence and added:

"What you have quoted up to now is mere hearsay."

Walter commented at another point:

"Unless you have more than was presented at the House, and is in the record here, I don't think you have made a prima facie case which I for one would feel justified in bringing to the House."

Points Out Partisanship

Wheeler maintained that Douglas' "political predilections" and "partisan political enterprises" have brought both him and the Supreme Court into ill repute.

In a sense, he contended, Douglas' statements and activities have indicated he was an active seeker for the presidency. He declared that when the justice "repeatedly" follows this course then he "jeopardizes his position on the court."

Walter interruped to agree, but adding that "I'm not so naive as to think that political considerations do not enter into the decisions of that august body.

The bill extends to Korean veterans the same privilege granted citizens in the American armed forces during World War 2. It applies to service up to July 1, 1955. About 5,000 aliens, many of them now in Korea, are affected.

Downpours, as heavy as six inches at Baytown, scattered over east and central Texas yesterday in time to save pastures, cotton, peaches, late corn and vegetables in many counties.

O'Neill Buys Home Of Historic Value

Francis J. O'Neill, who, in recent years was the Democratic candidate for mayor, has bought the former VanKeuren homestead at 84 St. James street, the real estate office of George W. Moore revealed today.

The old stone house, a local landmark, was one of those damaged by fire when the British burned Kingston in 1777. It was rebuilt and occupied by descendants of the VanKeuren family until it was sold to the Terpening family members of which had owned it for 100 years.

The sale was made through Moore's office. Roger H. Loughran represented the estate of Mary Terpening and N. Jansen Fowler was the buyer's attorney.

Churchill Reads Papers

London, June 30 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill was up and about today at his country home—still poring over government papers though ordered by his doctors to take a month's rest. The 78-year-old premier had lunch with his actress daughter, Sarah, and Britain's top atomic expert, Lord Cherwell. Illness that has plagued the Churchill cabinet struck another member today. Minister of Housing Harold MacMillan was stricken with gall bladder trouble. But doctors said MacMillan's condition was not serious and there was no need for an operation.

Elsworth Reserves Decision on Cop's Return to Duty

Albany, June 30 (AP) — Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth of state Supreme Court Monday reserved decision on whether Arthur Finch, 56, should be reinstated to the Hudson police force.

R. Monell Herzberg, Finch's attorney, asked for a writ of mandamus ordering Police Commissioner Roger C. Bliss to return Finch to the force and pay him back wages from March, 1952.

Elsworth gave Herzberg and Charles G. Alonge, Hudson corporation counsel, two weeks in which to file briefs.

Alonge contended Finch, a patrolman, retired from the department in January, 1952. Finch claims he did not retire.

To Study Retirement

Herzberg said today there was pending a full state review of a decision by the State Employes Retirement System rejecting an application by Finch for disability retirement.

On June 11, Finch was acquitted by a Supreme Court jury of two counts of perjury in an indictment returned by the extraordinary grand jury investigating vice and gambling in Columbia county.

He had been accused of lying about alleged visits to houses of prostitution in Hudson.

Red Radio Rejects

and that, therefore, the Communists could not accept it.

It also demanded again the return of all escaped prisoners.

Clark had reminded the Red high command that the Panmunjom negotiations were for a military armistice and that while he doesn't control the South Korean government he does command its army.

The UN commander promised to do his best to get Rhee's cooperation and pledged his command to enforce the terms of a truce.

Red China's voice at Peiping joined in scorning the UNC efforts to achieve a truce. A broadcast monitored in London said that Rhee, "emboldened as a result of open American connivance" in the release of Korean POWs, has been plotting with the Chinese Nationalists to free Chinese POWs.

In Indefinite Recess

The armistice talks are in an indefinite recess asked by the Reds June 20. While Pyongyang radio's rejection of a resumption of negotiations was not official, it certainly bore the Red high command's stamp of approval.

While dickering with Robertson, Rhee moved Tuesday to strengthen his military set-up by naming Vice Adm. Sohn Won Il his defense minister. Sohn, South Korean chief of naval operations, replaces Shin Tai Yung, whom the government said resigned for "personal reasons."

Meanwhile, the Swiss delegation which will participate in the neutral nations supervisory commission arrived in Tokyo to await signing of an armistice.

The Swiss team joined a Swedish delegation which arrived in Tokyo a day earlier. It also will take part in the four-nation commission that will supervise an armistice.

Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia will supply the two other commission delegations.

Wheeler Admits He Erred in Linking Douglas to Divorce

Washington, June 30 (AP)—Rep. Wheeler (D-Ga.) said today he was wrong in linking Justice William O. Douglas to an Oregon divorce case, in his efforts to have the justice impeached.

Wheeler, still pressing his charges of "high crimes and misdemeanors" against the Supreme Court justice, told a special House Judiciary subcommittee he had listed the divorce angle on the bases of a newspaper report.

"The implication carried in the newspaper story was false," he said. "The divorce proceedings in Portland, Ore., did not involve Justice Douglas."

The Judiciary Committee is holding hearings on the impeachment resolution which Wheeler filed June 17 after Douglas stayed the execution of the convicted atom spies, Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

Questions Arguments

Chairman Graham (R-Pa) and Rep. Walter (D-Pa.) of the committee questioned the validity of Wheeler's arguments.

Graham, refering him to a preliminary airing of his case by Wheeler in the House yesterday, told Wheeler that he did not consider newspaper accounts as evidence and added:

"What you have quoted up to now is mere hearsay."

Walter commented at another point:

"Unless you have more than was presented at the House, and is in the record here, I don't think you have made a prima facie case which I for one would feel justified in bringing to the House."

Points Out Partisanship

Wheeler maintained that Douglas' "political predilections" and "partisan political enterprises" have brought both him and the Supreme Court into ill repute.

In a sense, he contended, Douglas' statements and activities have indicated he was an active seeker for the presidency. He declared that when the justice "repeatedly" follows this course then he "jeopardizes his position on the court."

Walter interruped to agree, but adding that "I'm not so naive as to think that political considerations do not enter into the decisions of that august body.

President Signs Bill

Washington, June 30 (AP)—President Eisenhower signed into law today a bill allowing speedy naturalization of aliens serving at least 90 days in the United States armed forces since the outbreak of the Korean war. The bill extends to Korean veterans the same privilege granted citizens in the American armed forces during World War 2. It applies to service up to July 1, 1955. About 5,000 aliens, many of them now in Korea, are affected.

Storms May Aid Texas

Dallas, Tex., June 30 (AP)—An inland sweep of tropical storms today pushed showers toward west Texas and Oklahoma farm areas for which President Eisenhower made available an eight-million dollar drouth disaster fund. Downpours, as heavy as six inches at Baytown, scattered over east and central Texas yesterday in time to save pastures, cotton, peaches, late corn and vegetables in many counties.

Red Job Abolished

London, June 30 (AP)—Budapest radio announced today the job of secretary general of the Communist party for Hungary has been abolished. The job was held by Premier Matyas Rakosi, long boss of the party.

The subjects being offered are English 9, 10, 11, 12, citizenship education 9, 10, 12, elementary algebra, plane geometry, biology, chemistry, physics, health, typewriting and driver's education.

O'Neill Buys Home Of Historic Value

Francis J. O'Neill, who, in recent years was the Democratic candidate for mayor, has bought the former VanKeuren homestead at 84 St. James street, the real estate office of George W. Moore revealed today.

The old stone house, a local landmark, was one of those damaged by fire when the British burned Kingston in 1777. It was rebuilt and occupied by descendants of the VanKeuren family until it was sold to the Terpening family members of which had owned it for 100 years.

The sale was made through Moore's office. Roger H. Loughran represented the estate of Mary Terpening and N. Jansen Fowler was the buyer's attorney.

Churchill Reads Papers

London, June 30 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill was up and about today at his country home—still poring over government papers though ordered by his doctors to take a month's rest. The 78-year-old premier had lunch with his actress daughter, Sarah, and Britain's top atomic expert, Lord Cherwell. Illness that has plagued the Churchill cabinet struck another member today. Minister of Housing Harold MacMillan was stricken with gall bladder trouble. But doctors said MacMillan's condition was not serious and there was no need for an operation.

Elsworth Reserves Decision on Cop's Return to Duty

Albany, June 30 (AP) — Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth of state Supreme Court Monday reserved decision on whether Arthur Finch, 56, should be reinstated to the Hudson police force.

R. Monell Herzberg, Finch's attorney, asked for a writ of mandamus ordering Police Commissioner Roger C. Bliss to return Finch to the force and pay him back wages from March, 1952.

Elsworth gave Herzberg and Charles G. Alonge, Hudson corporation counsel, two weeks in which to file briefs.

Alonge contended Finch, a patrolman, retired from the department in January, 1952. Finch claims he did not retire.

To Study Retirement

Herzberg said today there was pending a full state review of a decision by the State Employes Retirement System rejecting an application by Finch for disability retirement.

On June 11, Finch was acquitted by a Supreme Court jury of two counts of perjury in an indictment returned by the extraordinary grand jury investigating vice and gambling in Columbia county.

He had been accused of lying about alleged visits to houses of prostitution in Hudson.

Red Radio Rejects

and that, therefore, the Communists could not accept it.

It also demanded again the return of all escaped prisoners.

Clark had reminded the Red high command that the Panmunjom negotiations were for a military armistice and that while he doesn't control the South Korean government he does command its army.

The UN commander promised to do his best to get Rhee's cooperation and pledged his command to enforce the terms of a truce.

Red China's voice at Peiping joined in scorning the UNC efforts to achieve a truce. A broadcast monitored in London said that Rhee, "emboldened as a result of open American connivance" in the release of Korean POWs, has been plotting with the Chinese Nationalists to free Chinese POWs.

In Indefinite Recess

The armistice talks are in an indefinite recess asked by the Reds June 20. While Pyongyang radio's rejection of a resumption of negotiations was not official, it certainly bore the Red high command's stamp of approval.

While dickering with Robertson, Rhee moved Tuesday to strengthen his military set-up by naming Vice Adm. Sohn Won Il his defense minister. Sohn, South Korean chief of naval operations, replaces Shin Tai Yung, whom the government said resigned for "personal reasons."

Meanwhile, the Swiss delegation which will participate in the neutral nations supervisory commission arrived in Tokyo to await signing of an armistice.

The Swiss team joined a Swedish delegation which arrived in Tokyo a day earlier. It also will take part in the four-nation commission that will supervise an armistice.

Communist Poland and Czechoslovakia will supply the two other commission delegations.

Fireworks Display July 4

Plans have been completed for the Ulster County Shrine Club fireworks display, July 4, at the Kingston-Ulster Airport field, located at Boice's Lane. The field has been donated to the Shrine Club free of cost by the owners, Joseph Phillipovich and Karl Albersmeir. Entire proceeds from the display will be devoted to the work of the local Cerebral Palsy Committee, in aiding children stricken with the disease. Pictured above is one of the children being treated at the center.

Herbert C. Meyers, general chairman of this event, which is part of the Shriners' program for the underprivileged children of Ulster county, announced that the display will begin at dusk and a capacity crowd is expected. John Kolts will be in charge of the parking field and Harry S. Hutton is chairman of the publicity committee.

July 15 Is Set For Blood Donors To Battle Polio

A chance to help children ward off the crippling effects of polio will be given to Kingstonians when the Red Cross bloodmobile from the New York Blood Center visits Kingston Wednesday, July 15, at municipal auditorium.

Mrs. Vincent G. Connelly, blood program chairman of the Ulster County Red Cross chapter, said today that the chapter's donor quota for the bloodmobile visit will include blood needed to fill committments made by the Red Cross to supply gamma globulin to children during the polio epidemic.

Mrs. Connelly said that gamma globulin, a constituent of human blood, provides protection against paralysis in polio from the second through the fifth week following injections of those exposed to the disease. She said that it takes a little more than one pint of blood to provide one dose of gamma globulin. The 150 pint quota will add to 66 stocks and also will continue to be allocated for Korean battle-wounded.

Urgent Need Stressed

"There is urgent need for the people of Ulster county to meet these increased quotas if our armed forces and polio epidemic needs can continue to be met," Mrs. Connelly said.

"This new program of supplying gamma globulin to protect children from paralysis caused by polio opens up a new field of humanitarian service for all of us. We feel confident we will have the support of the people of this community in meeting our donor quotas. Donors should contact chapter headquarters in Kingston now for an appointment in order that proper scheduling can be made for the July 15 visit of the bloodmobile."

The Red Cross, Mrs. Connelly said, was asked by the Office of Defense Mobilization in Washington last November to undertake the gamma globulin program after experiments conducted in several cities demonstrated the effectiveness of gamma globulin in the prevention of paralysis from poliomyelitis for the purpose of these experiments, carried out under the auspices of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, the Red Cross provided the gamma globulin without charge.

Dr. Link Opens Family Life Institute

New Paltz, Jan. 27—"Isolation and fragmentation of the family are among the more critical trends in American life today," Dr. Eugene Link, director of the third annual Family Life Institute said at the opening session Monday at the State University Teachers College in New Paltz.

Keynoting the theme of the Institute, "Securing Families in Changing Times," Dr. Link saw a loss of security in the family's tendency to isolate itself, separated from the interdependent community groups that flourished in the past. "The American fixation on one's mate and children," he said, "is a result of the isolation of the family."

Economic patterns, changes in education and in government are the chief factors that affect the family, said Dr. Link, who is chairman of the Social Science Division at New Paltz State Teachers College. Of these factors, economic changes are crucial, he added. The family breaks into fragments today, and home controls are lost, because it does not act together as an economic group. "Children and older people used to share in the family chores," Dr. Link reminded his audience. "Now they are given 'busy work' to do, and live in a world of their own."

"The family, and family life, are a means, not an end; and the end is the individual," said Dr. John H. Jacobson, acting dean of State University Teachers College in New Paltz, at the Family Life Institute's panel discussion Monday of the effect of changing times on persons in the family.

Speaking for experienced parents to an audience of teachers, parents and social workers, Dr. Jacobson declared that since the chief problem in any group is the interaction of the individuals within it, the middle-aged parent has to face the strain and tensions of adolescence in his family, mediate between the adolescent and the rest of the world, and at the same time remain an individual himself. He has to stay an individual while he provides his child with the opportunity to become one too. Having done this he gets out of the way.

Adolescent Dangers

The dangers to the adolescent accompanying this process were the subject of Dr. Irving Knapp, psychiatrist at Warwick State School. "The normal problem of adolescence is becoming free of the parent and making new attachments. This gain of maturity is never easy," he said. Adolescence doesn't just happen. The adolescent was once a child whose own emotional development determines whether or not he can grow successfully into an adult.

Youngsters are confused in changing times, said Dr. Knapp. How then can the feeling of security develop that they need in order to be independent?

Miss Ruth Coon, director of the Institute's Activity School and faculty member of the Campus Elementary School of the State Teachers College, said that the young child in a small family needs companionship and a chance to learn to create and to feel good about himself. He is not a cute toy, but a small individual meeting problems every day.

Must Accept Ourselves

The contention of Dr. Dorothy Hayes, chairman of the education division at the College and moderator of the panel, was that it is not so much what happens to you as how you feel about what happens that is important. "If we can accept ourselves we can accept others," she said.

The people to whom the most has happened—the older citizens—found their spokesmen in Dr. Ruth Andrus, director of the Cold Spring Project in Gerontology. Pointing out that the group of people over 60 is increasing, she said that these resources should not be wasted or put off with artificial "busy work." It is important for them and for society that they have a chance to do things and be stimulated while doing. As at any age "these people need some purpose and direction," she said. "Happiness doesn't come from drifting. No one goes anywhere by resting on his oars."

Signal Partner To Win Hands

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When you have a doubleton in the suit your partner leads, it is often a good idea to signal the doubleton by playing your high card first and your low card next. This signal indicates that you are ready and willing to ruff the third round of the suit.

In today's hand East used this signal unwisely. He thought he was ready to ruff, but he had overlooked a countermove by South.

West opened the king of diamonds, and East began the "echo" by playing the nine of diamonds. West obediently continued by cashing the ace of diamonds and then leading the queen.

South would have been defeated if he had ruffed the third round of diamonds in dummy. East would have overruffed, thus taking the third defensive trick, and East would then have taken the setting trick with a top heart.

Instead, South saved his bacon by discarding dummy's queen of hearts on the queen of diamonds. This gave the defenders their third trick, but they had no way of getting a fourth. Nothing could prevent South from rufing his two low hearts in dummy, after which he could easily draw the trumps.

Correct defense defeats the contract by giving South no chance to make this clever discard. East must begin the correct defense by playing his deuce of diamonds on the first trick.

Just as an echo in diamonds would ask West to continue the suit, so the play of East's lowest diamonds asks West to switch to a different suit. West must obviously shift to hearts, and East takes his king.

Now and only now, is it time for East to lead the second round of diamonds. West takes this third defensive trick with the queen of diamonds and leads another diamond. This permits East to overruff the dummy after he has made sure of the precious heart trick.

Dr. Link Opens Family Life Institute

New Paltz, Jan. 27—"Isolation and fragmentation of the family are among the more critical trends in American life today," Dr. Eugene Link, director of the third annual Family Life Institute said at the opening session Monday at the State University Teachers College in New Paltz.

Keynoting the theme of the Institute, "Securing Families in Changing Times," Dr. Link saw a loss of security in the family's tendency to isolate itself, separated from the interdependent community groups that flourished in the past. "The American fixation on one's mate and children," he said, "is a result of the isolation of the family."

Economic patterns, changes in education and in government are the chief factors that affect the family, said Dr. Link, who is chairman of the Social Science Division at New Paltz State Teachers College. Of these factors, economic changes are crucial, he added. The family breaks into fragments today, and home controls are lost, because it does not act together as an economic group. "Children and older people used to share in the family chores," Dr. Link reminded his audience. "Now they are given 'busy work' to do, and live in a world of their own."

"The family, and family life, are a means, not an end; and the end is the individual," said Dr. John H. Jacobson, acting dean of State University Teachers College in New Paltz, at the Family Life institute's panel discussion Monday of the effect of changing times on persons in the family.

Speaking for experienced parents to an audience of teachers, parents and social workers, Dr. Jacobson declared that since the chief problem in any group is the interaction of the individuals within it, the middle-aged parent has to face the strain and tensions of adolescence in his family, mediate between the adolescent and the rest of the world, and at the same time remain an individual himself. He has to stay an individual while he provides his child with the opportunity to become one too. Having done this he gets out of the way.

Adolescent Dangers

The dangers to the adolescent accompanying this process were the subject of Dr. Irving Knapp, psychiatrist at Warwick State School. "The normal problem of adolescence is becoming free of the parent and making new attachments. This gain of maturity is never easy," he said. Adolescence doesn't just happen. The adolescent was once a child whose own emotional development determines whether or not he can grow successfully into an adult.

Youngsters are confused in changing times, said Dr. Knapp. How then can the feeling of security develop that they need in order to be independent?

Miss Ruth Coon, director of the Institute's Activity School and faculty member of the Campus Elementary School of the State Teachers College, said that the young child in a small family needs companionship and a chance to learn to create and to feel good about himself. He is not a cute toy, but a small individual meeting problems every day.

Must Accept Ourselves

The contention of Dr. Dorothy Hayes, chairman of the education division at the College and moderator of the panel, was that it is not so much what happens to you as how you feel about what happens that is important. "If we can accept ourselves we can accept others," she said.

The people to whom the most has happened—the older citizens—found their spokesmen in Dr. Ruth Andrus, director of the Cold Spring Project in Gerontology. Under the present sprinkling regulations, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays all consumers on even-number sides of streets will be permitted to use hose and sprinklers and on Tuesdays Thursdays and Saturdays those on odd-number sides. Sprinkling time is from 7 a. m. to 9 a. m. and 7 p. m. to 9 p. m.

Cloonan explained that the purpose of present sprinkling regulations was to operate at normal capacity and to insure water to consumers for fire protection and domestic purposes.

Eisenhower Forces Clear Way for Tax Law's Extension

Washington, June 30 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration, after weeks of bitter bickering, appeared today to have cleared the legislative trail for a six-months extension of the excess profits tax.

Working desperately behind the scenes, administration forces stamped out a stubborn rebellion in the House Ways and Means Committee, out-maneuvering Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R.-N.Y.) who had raised a blockade against action on the bill.

And thus they dramatically averted, literally at the last minute, an expected showdown House battle over a drastic move to bypass the proud old tax-writing committee.

Easy Sailing Seen

House leaders joined Republicans and Democrats on the committee today in voicing firm conviction the tax extension would have relatively easy sailing now. The committee roadblock had been the big obstacle; both the House and Senate appeared likely to okay an extension if it came to a vote.

The levy expires at midnight, but it can be renewed retroactively.

Reed still held out strong personal opposition. But his supporting ranks had been shattered, even among Republican colleagues on his own committee.

Reed yielded only to the point of calling his group into session July 8. Previously he had canceled all committee meetings to block any action on the administration's tax proposal.

His concession was enough. Key Republicans said 10 or 11 of the 15 GOP committee members will vote to bring the tax bill to the floor. Democrats said they would support the move almost solidly.

Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R.-Pa.), who evidently played a big role in the settlement, said he "anticipates and hopes" Reed will agree to put the business profits tax on the committee agenda for the July 8 session, or another meeting about that time.

Saying that businessmen were more responsive to the public than bureaucrats, Mrs. Bruce M. Mills, president of the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs today hailed the approval by the House Public Works Committee of a bill for the development of hydroelectric facilities at Niagara Falls by private industry.

The bill is one introduced by the committee chairman, Representative George A. Dondero, Republican of Michigan. The bill is identical with one submitted both last year and this year by Representative William E. Miller, Republican of New York, the aims of which were endorsed by the Federation's 1952 convention at Utica last November.

Competing with the Dondero and Miller measures were bills to develop the new power through either Federal or State agencies. Parallel proposals are also currently on the agenda of the Senate Public Works Committee.

Onteora Central School Dedicated at Special Exercises

Speaker Cites Sweep Of Free Education At School Exercises

"The dedication of this school represents a part of the vast upward sweep of free educational opportunity in New York State," said Dr. Edwin R. Van Kleeck, assistant state commissioner of education, Albany, at the dedication of the Onteora Central School, Boiceville, Friday evening. Dr. Van Kleeck was the principal speaker.

The music for the occasion was provided by Harry Simon and his orchestra, by the cooperation of Local 215 of the American Federation of Musicians, through a grant from the Musical Performance Trust Fund of the Recording Industry. Alan Gilbert, baritone, of Woodstock, star of Finian's Rainbow and South Pacific, was soloist.

The Rev. James L. Riordan, pastor of St. John's Church, West Hurley; St. Augustine's Chapter, West Shokan; and Joan of Arc Chapel, Woodstock; gave the invocation. The Rev. James H. Cox, pastor, Shandaken Methodist Church closed the program with benediction.

Also participating in the program were Lester M. Shultis, president of the board of education, who welcomed the large assemblage. William Frankle, commander, Olive Memorial Post, American Legion, presented the Flag, and Paul R. Harbach, architect, presented the key.

During his brief remarks, John H. Moehle, coordinator of Civil Defense, state education department, announced his acceptance of an invitation recently extended by the board of education, to serve as principal of the Onteora school.

Education Creates Wealth

In his opening address, Dr. Van Kleeck, who was introduced by Reginald R. Bennett, district superintendent of schools, said: "Through this new building you are opening wider the door of opportunity for the boys and girls of the Onteora Central School District. Funds spent on education pay back many fold every dollar spent, for they develop the human resources, without which abundant natural resources are of little value to a people. As a purely dollars-and-cents computation, education constitutes a most productive and profitable enterprise, creating wealth far in excess of what it costs."

Dr. Van Kleeck congratulated the district on the "quality of leadership which it had enjoyed," referring especially to the work of the principals and of the district superintendent of schools. "No community," he said, "is better than its schools. No school system is better than its board of education. This building is a tribute to the Board of Education who brought about the centralization."

Two things, Dr. Van Kleeck said, had made possible the educational achievements in Onteora. The first was the central school movement and the second was the foresight and vision of the voters in taking advantage of the educational opportunities offered by the state.

Closes Rural Schools

The commissioner cited the fact that the Onteora Central School district has been in operation "only five years" during which time "your district has purchased a site, built a beautiful school, and closed down all the old rural schools except two, which remained open by agreement."

Reviewing the social advantages to be gained through the school as a "community center type building" Dr. Van Kleeck reviewed the numerous activities which have taken place at the school during its first year of operation.

Enormous Responsibility

The speaker described the responsibility of leadership of the Board of Education, as "enormous." Continuing, he said, "Few central districts have anything so great, for most begin with high schools already operating. All big districts go through an agonizing period of growing pains. It has to be expected."

Dr. Van Kleeck concluded his address by noting that the district had "willingly voted $2,150,000 to erect the school," and that "the district has the financial ability to provide the best type of education. I think you are wise enough to use that ability."

The dedication committee comprised Mr. Shultis, Roderick E. Ayer, retiring supervising principal Mr. Bennett, Fred D. Cure, Herbert J. Epstein, Albert S. Fox, Jr., Philip Gordon, Mrs. Robert J. Gregg, Paul Joyce, Mrs. Melvin Mones, Howard H. Mosher, Mrs. Samuel Porter, Andrew Shekitka, and Mrs. Milton H. Wagenfohr.

Burroughs' Group Holds Field Meeting At Mount Marion

The John Burroughs Natural History Society held a field meeting on Sunday, June 28, beginning at 8 a. m., at the camp of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hayes, Mount Marion. The camp is located on the shores of the Esopus Creek.

Mr. Hayes had provided three sturdy rowboats and the party set out on the calm waters of the creek, to watch the active bird life and study the interesting vegetation on its banks.

A Baltimore oriole's nest was discovered, with both parent birds oscillating rapidly between a fruit-laden mulberry tree and their hungry brood. It was easy to guess that family's diet.

During the noon hour, when a basket lunch was enjoyed at the cottage, the party watched this mulberry-tree bird cafeteria. Grackles, robins, orioles, rose-breasted grosbeaks and a gorgeous scarlet tanager displayed their startlingly brilliant plumage. A shiny goldfinch balanced delicately in a weeping willow, and all beholders agreed that the tropics could scarcely exceed these in beauty.

Plattekill Trip

In the afternoon a few members made a boat trip into the navigable portion of the Plattekill Creek, while others walked along the shore. A spotted sandpiper was seen followed by its downy chick, and a colony of bank-swallows and their nests in a clay river bank afforded interesting study. Many other birds were observed.

Members present were: Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hayes, hosts and leaders, Ralph Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. James Betts, Mrs. Charles Arnold, Mrs. John B. Sterley, Dr. A. M. Cragin and Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Dunbar.

Speaker Cites Sweep Of Free Education At School Exercises

"The dedication of this school represents a part of the vast upward sweep of free educational opportunity in New York State," said Dr. Edwin R. Van Kleeck, assistant state commissioner of education, Albany, at the dedication of the Onteora Central School, Boiceville, Friday evening. Dr. Van Kleeck was the principal speaker.

The music for the occasion was provided by Harry Simon and his orchestra, by the cooperation of Local 215 of the American Federation of Musicians, through a grant from the Musical Performance Trust Fund of the Recording Industry. Alan Gilbert, baritone, of Woodstock, star of Finian's Rainbow and South Pacific, was soloist.

The Rev. James L. Riordan, pastor of St. John's Church, West Hurley; St. Augustine's Chapter, West Shokan; and Joan of Arc Chapel, Woodstock; gave the invocation. The Rev. James H. Cox, pastor, Shandaken Methodist Church closed the program with benediction.

Also participating in the program were Lester M. Shultis, president of the board of education, who welcomed the large assemblage. William Frankle, commander, Olive Memorial Post, American Legion, presented the Flag, and Paul R. Harbach, architect, presented the key.

During his brief remarks, John H. Moehle, coordinator of Civil Defense, state education department, announced his acceptance of an invitation recently extended by the board of education, to serve as principal of the Onteora school.

Education Creates Wealth

In his opening address, Dr. Van Kleeck, who was introduced by Reginald R. Bennett, district superintendent of schools, said: "Through this new building you are opening wider the door of opportunity for the boys and girls of the Onteora Central School District. Funds spent on education pay back many fold every dollar spent, for they develop the human resources, without which abundant natural resources are of little value to a people. As a purely dollars-and-cents computation, education constitutes a most productive and profitable enterprise, creating wealth far in excess of what it costs."

Dr. Van Kleeck congratulated the district on the "quality of leadership which it had enjoyed," referring especially to the work of the principals and of the district superintendent of schools. "No community," he said, "is better than its schools. No school system is better than its board of education. This building is a tribute to the Board of Education who brought about the centralization."

Two things, Dr. Van Kleeck said, had made possible the educational achievements in Onteora. The first was the central school movement and the second was the foresight and vision of the voters in taking advantage of the educational opportunities offered by the state.

Closes Rural Schools

The commissioner cited the fact that the Onteora Central School district has been in operation "only five years" during which time "your district has purchased a site, built a beautiful school, and closed down all the old rural schools except two, which remained open by agreement."

Reviewing the social advantages to be gained through the school as a "community center type building" Dr. Van Kleeck reviewed the numerous activities which have taken place at the school during its first year of operation.

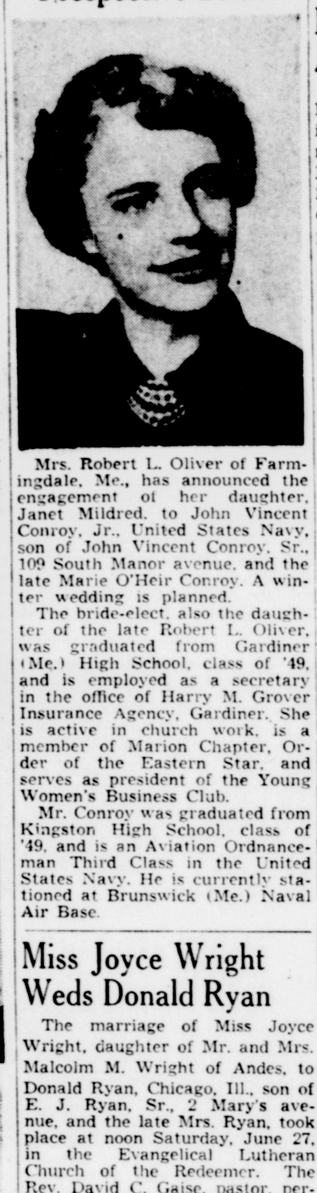

Enormous Responsibility

The speaker described the responsibility of leadership of the Board of Education, as "enormous." Continuing, he said, "Few central districts have anything so great, for most begin with high schools already operating. All big districts go through an agonizing period of growing pains. It has to be expected."

Dr. Van Kleeck concluded his address by noting that the district had "willingly voted $2,150,000 to erect the school," and that "the district has the financial ability to provide the best type of education. I think you are wise enough to use that ability."

The dedication committee comprised Mr. Shultis, Roderick E. Ayer, retiring supervising principal Mr. Bennett, Fred D. Cure, Herbert J. Epstein, Albert S. Fox, Jr., Philip Gordon, Mrs. Robert J. Gregg, Paul Joyce, Mrs. Melvin Mones, Howard H. Mosher, Mrs. Samuel Porter, Andrew Shekitka, and Mrs. Milton H. Wagenfohr.

I AND MY TRUE LOVE
By Helen MacInnes
317 pp

Beautiful Sylvia Pleydell's true love was unfortunately not her distinguished, wealthy husband, Peyton, but instead twice within the 10 years of her marriage she has been swept into a stormy, emotional episode by handsome Jan Brovic.

The first time was when Jan, a dashing young Czech airman, sent to Washington soon after the war on a diplomatic mission, met Sylvia at her charming little home in Georgetown and fell deeply in love with her. Then followed a brief, idyllic, clandestine love affair, broken up by a feigned nervous breakdown by the jealous husband which fooled everyone, including his doctor, and kept Sylvia chained to his bedside until the fall of Czechoslovakia into Communist power, which in turn forced Jan's return home.

The second time was six years later when Jan, suffering imprisonment, torture and near starvation because of his non-Communist beliefs, was suddenly offered a chance to return to America on a visitor's "mission." He was expected to renew his acquaintance with Sylvia and others in Washington with State Department connections in order to obtain inside information helpful to the Communist rules of his country.

This he had no intention of doing but welcomed the opportunity, first because it offered a chance for his parents and his sister to follow him, and second he hoped to regain his lost Sylvia.

At first Sylvia refused to see him but once she learned from her husband of his duplicity upon that first occasion, she concluded that she no longer owed him either respect nor fidelity.

Shadowed by agents from both Czechoslovakia and from the State Department; and guarded by Sylvia's loyal friend, Amy Clark and by her young, lovely cousin, Kate, and Lt. Bob Turner, Korean veteran, temporarily stationed in Washington; a dramatic love affair goes rapidly and dangerously forward until the final crash.

Strangely enough at the same time out of their mutual anxiety for Sylvia and Jan grows a happy romance for Kate and Bob. A nice touch by this author of "Above Suspicion" in which she again proves her smooth mastery of counterplots.

It is a thrilling tale with intimate glimpses into the intrigues and entanglements of State Department officials and international lawyers in our present disdisturbed world relations.

The first time was when Jan, a dashing young Czech airman, sent to Washington soon after the war on a diplomatic mission, met Sylvia at her charming little home in Georgetown and fell deeply in love with her. Then followed a brief, idyllic, clandestine love affair, broken up by a feigned nervous breakdown by the jealous husband which fooled everyone, including his doctor, and kept Sylvia chained to his bedside until the fall of Czechoslovakia into Communist power, which in turn forced Jan's return home.

The second time was six years later when Jan, suffering imprisonment, torture and near starvation because of his non-Communist beliefs, was suddenly offered a chance to return to America on a visitor's "mission." He was expected to renew his acquaintance with Sylvia and others in Washington with State Department connections in order to obtain inside information helpful to the Communist rules of his country.

Esopus Legion Shatters Subway Grill's Nine-Game Streak, 7-3

C. Bock Tough In Pinches for Winning Team

Beichert's, Alpines Score Sixth Victories

City Softball

Subway Grill	9	1
Esopus Legion	8	3

Cherny's	3	8

V.F.W.	1	9

Charlie Bock of the Esopus Legion, who was one of Kingston High's legendary basketball performers and an excellent baseball player before he turned to softball, achieved a major upset in the City Softball League yesterday.

Charlie was nicked for 12 hits by the undefeated Subway Grill squad but, when the final returns were in, the Esopus Legion had shattered Subway's nine-game skein, 7 to 3.

Bock was tough with men on base and permitted a single tally in the fourth and two in the fifth. The Legion assaulted veteran Walt Bigler, who gave 13 hits, for a trio in the first inning and two runs in each of the fourth and sixth stanzas. The win elevated the Legion to second place with 8 victories and 3 losses.

Of the 25 hits in the contest only three were for extra bases—doubles by Tom Spada, Walt Bigler and Cliff Davis. Bob Schatzel socked three singles for Subway Grill and Ed Van Loan matched him for Esopus. Bob Graves, George Beaver and Don Ferraro hit safely twice for Esopus. Fred Orr, Tommy Maines and Vince Peck were double hitters for Subways.

Alpine Shades Cherny's

Alpine Climbers staked Don Koeppen to four runs in first inning against Cherny's and he made them hold up for a 4-3 squeaker. John Provenzano's triple with the bases loaded in the first inning was the big blow of the game. Ed Lowe was the victim.

Koeppen yielded single tallies in the first, second and fifth innings. Harry Van Wagenen pounded a double and single for Cherny's and Jack Houghtaling hit two singles for Alpines, who won their sixth decision in ten starts.

Decker Hurls Shutout

Ed Decker of Beichert's Studies outpitched Lou Secreto of the VFW, 3 to 0, in a fast game in which fielding sparkled on both sides.

Don Smith, the Beichert's left fielder, was the difference between the teams. His home run and long fly accounted for two of the winning markers. The nine hits on both sides went to nine different players. Decker stroked a triple in his own cause. Beichert's won their sixth victory in 10 games, while V.F.W. played with a tenacity that belied its 1-9 standings in the League.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

The South American way in amateur boxing is far superior to the U. S. brand as was evidenced by the recent international series in which the neighboring republics outscored the American squad, 12 to 6, in a series of 18 team matches.

Ben Becker, Adirondack AAU boxing chairman, had earlier mentioned the superiority of the South Americans in a letter to Joe Kelly. Becker spent several weeks down there, lecturing to South American coaches and was awarded a solid gold medal on which were embossed the flags of the U. S. and Argentina.

"The Argentine team is strong and tough but they are crude and need lots of polishing," Becker wrote from Buenos Aires. "Our team is poor . . . we have won some . . . but lost quite a few other bouts." . . . General Juan Peron, the Argentine dictator, invited Backer to remain in South America for a year, but the Albany high school athletic director (Philip Schuyler) has not yet made a decision. Becker, incidentally, thinks that Jimmy Voss the 156-pounder who headlined Fred Davi's first card, can beat any amateur boxer in South America.

Why break up the Yankees? Didn't we tell Roland Post, John Misasi, Leo Poid, Paul Freer and other Yankee diehards that the Bronx Bombers would fizzle to a pop gun before the season ended?

• Of Men and Mice:

Best semi-pro road attraction in baseball today is the Georgia Chain Gang, who would look good on July 4 at the municipal stadium. The Poughkeepsie New Yorker needled the old rowing regatta patriarchs in the Bridge City on regatta day by publishing a picture of the railroad trestle across the Hudson. It was a quiet, placid day, the kind that made the Poughkeepsie Regatta one of the most publicized events in the collegiate sports world. In Marietta, Ohio, and even Syracuse, the regatta is bush league stuff. Allen "Skip" Waltz, former crew coach at Yale, recently remarked that the regatta should be run on the Hudson River between 125th and 72nd streets or under the George Washington Bridge. He would have the Atlantic Fleet stationed on the river as a backdrop. No admission charge, a guaranteed million spectators and exciting TV coverage would make it a thrilling spectacle.

• Night Magic in Catskill Streams:

They were once magic names to trout fishermen everywhere, those streams that rise in the Catskill mountains. Some say the magic is gone now, but George B. Gordon of Outdoor Life has a different idea. It's only changed. You might call it black magic now, because names like Willowemoc and Beaverkill have a new breed of anglers under their spell . . . men who fish at night.

In "Mark the Spot," Gordon introduces the cat-eyed fly fishermen who work the Willowemoc. They use a time-tested method. Perhaps the wonder is that so few modern anglers know how well it works. Izaak Walton explained it 300 years ago. "In the night the best trout comes out of their holes," Walton advised, and that's still true of wary old brown trout. Gordon and other old-time Willowemoc anglers are taking 20-inch browns from a stream just a short jaunt from Kingston.

These big fish move up the Beaverkill and the Willowemoc in an early-summer run. By August almost every deep pool on the Willowemoc above Livingston Manor has a big, red-spotted summer boarder. Gordon tells how to spot them. They'll hug the bottom during the day, but they're ready to tangle with streamers wet flies, dry flies, or bass bugs after dark. Big, sharp hooks and heavy leaders are in order; light tackle won't hold these night-fighters.

It's wacky fishing, maybe. Skeptics claim the midnight anglers are that way, too. But one thing you can't laugh off—they bring home more walloping brown trout than the sun-stroked, chilblained day-time Waltons.

Pee Wee Pitcher Hurls No-Hitter

Jim Burzee pitched a no-hit, no-run game for the Rifles of the Boys Club Pee Wee League against the Orioles. The Rifles won 5 to 0.

Burzee walked one batter and struck out five. His mound rival, Ronnie Prosser, also turned in an impressive stint, yielding only six hits and fanning 13. But six errors hurt him.

Peter Keizer and John Smith each had two hits for the Rifles. The former had a triple and single and Smith two solo swats. Nick Cosmos and Howard Winter had the other safeties.

Charlie Bock of the Esopus Legion, who was one of Kingston High's legendary basketball performers and an excellent baseball player before he turned to softball, achieved a major upset in the City Softball League yesterday.

Charlie was nicked for 12 hits by the undefeated Subway Grill squad but, when the final returns were in, the Esopus Legion had shattered Subway's nine-game skein, 7 to 3.

Bock was tough with men on base and permitted a single tally in the fourth and two in the fifth. The Legion assaulted veteran Walt Bigler, who gave 13 hits, for a trio in the first inning and two runs in each of the fourth and sixth stanzas. The win elevated the Legion to second place with 8 victories and 3 losses.

Of the 25 hits in the contest only three were for extra bases—doubles by Tom Spada, Walt Bigler and Cliff Davis. Bob Schatzel socked three singles for Subway Grill and Ed Van Loan matched him for Esopus. Bob Graves, George Beaver and Don Ferraro hit safely twice for Esopus. Fred Orr, Tommy Maines and Vince Peck were double hitters for Subways.

Alpine Shades Cherny's

Alpine Climbers staked Don Koeppen to four runs in first inning against Cherny's and he made them hold up for a 4-3 squeaker. John Provenzano's triple with the bases loaded in the first inning was the big blow of the game. Ed Lowe was the victim.

Koeppen yielded single tallies in the first, second and fifth innings. Harry Van Wagenen pounded a double and single for Cherny's and Jack Houghtaling hit two singles for Alpines, who won their sixth decision in ten starts.

Decker Hurls Shutout

Ed Decker of Beichert's Studies outpitched Lou Secreto of the VFW, 3 to 0, in a fast game in which fielding sparkled on both sides.

Don Smith, the Beichert's left fielder, was the difference between the teams. His home run and long fly accounted for two of the winning markers. The nine hits on both sides went to nine different players. Decker stroked a triple in his own cause. Beichert's won their sixth victory in 10 games, while V.F.W. played with a tenacity that belied its 1-9 standings in the League.

Merchants Call On Klosterman

With their ace pitcher, George Telepas, now toiling in the Kitty League in the Carolinas, Manager Pucker Davis of the Colonials is expected to call on Zeke Klosterman or Tex Brown in today's City League skirmish with the Indians.

A game behind the unbeaten Wiltwyck Motors in the loss column, the Merchants have no choice but to ride over the prostrate form of the Indians if they are to strengthen their pennant chances. The Indians have dropped five straight.

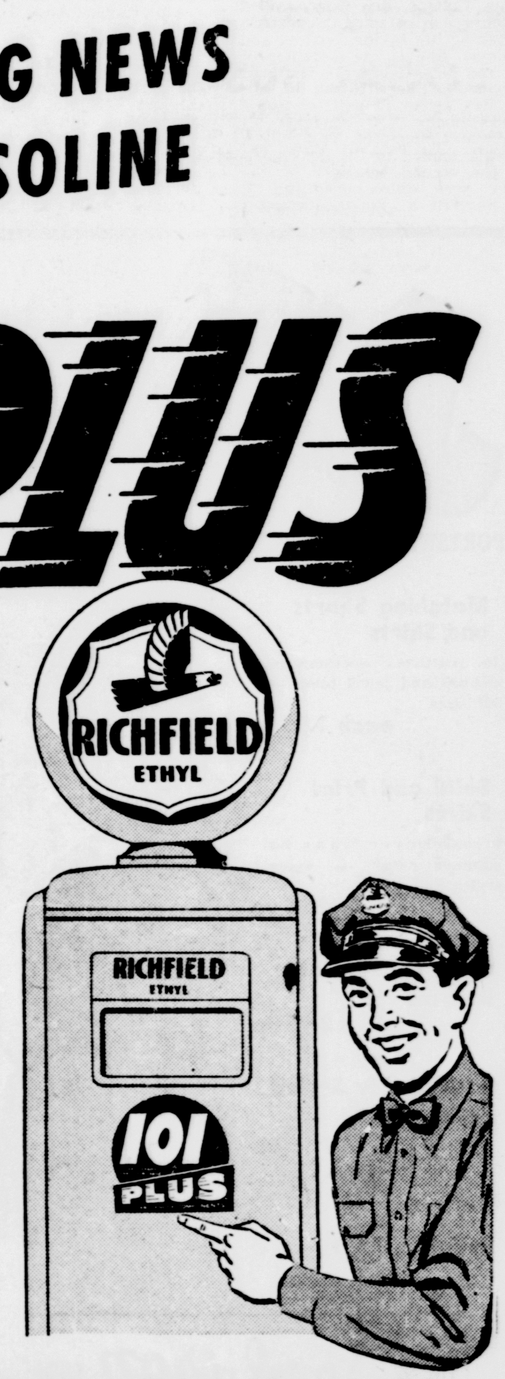

Manager Charlie Havlin is expected to go with Bob Peterson or Ronnie Brandt.

Police Tossers Upset Legion in FYL, 4-3

Four-Run Inning Gives Giannuzzi Hard Earned Win

Elks Club Alone At Top of League

The Fraternal Youth League experienced its first major upset of the season yesterday, when Lorenzo Giannuzzi of the Kingston Patrolmen's Ass. nine bested three hurlers of the American Legion for a 4-3 squeaker.

The loss was the first in three games for the Legion and squared the KPA record at 2 and 2. Elks Club now holds first place alone with two wins and no setbacks.

While Giannuzzi was pitching effectively in the clutches, the Police enjoyed one big inning to achieve the upset. They scored four times in the fourth and that was just enough.

Giannuzzi permitted only three hits—all singles—and struck out six. The Police collected seven hits off the Legion trio. Ernie Madison, the Police centerfielder, doubled for the only extra base hit of the contest.

Legion Scores First

A two out error by George Hamilton set up the Legion Marker in the first. Bob Weishaupt got a life on the play. Frank Weishaupt followed with another bobble and Bob crossed the plate.

The big Police fourth developed quickly with Bob Raible and Art Moshis spanking singles. After George Norton grounded out, Ernie Madison lined a double to center, scoring Moshis and Raible to send the Police ahead 2-1.

Mike Perry's error gave Weishaupt a life and Giannuzzi aided his own cause with a single to center, scoring Madison and sending Danny Steltz to the showers. Bob Maines came on in relief. George Hamilton was awarded first base because of catcher's interference and Maines uncorked a wild pitch on which Frank Weishaupt scored the fourth run of the inning.

Rally With Two Outs

Down to their last out, the Legion rallied for two markers in the fifth. Don Van Buren drew a walk and went to second on a wild pitch. George Hamilton's two base error sent Van Buren home and Ron Ferraro to second. Bobby Dykes delivered Ferraro with a single but Weishaupt fanned to end the inning.

Bob Raible and Lorenzo Giannuzzi had two hits each for the Police.

Boise Fans Nine, Boosts Total to 52

Charlie Boice and Don Krueger combined to pitch a five-hit, 6-2, victory for the Moose Club Red Sox over the Lions Club Yankees in the American Little League at the 156th FA diamond. The result left the teams tied for first place.

Boice was credited with the victory, his fifth in six starts. Bill Thomas was the loser, although he permitted only six hits and struck out nine. Boice and Krueger tied that total.

Boice's six strikeouts ran his seasonal total to 52 and Thomas now has 40. Frank Sammons, the Red Sox catcher, pounded a single, double and triple in three trips to boost his batting average from .588 to .621 to take over the league lead from Hobart Armstrong of the Dodgers, who was idle yesterday.

A pair of three-run innings turned the trick for the Red Sox, who opened with three in the first and got three more in the third.

Gerry McDonough also went "3 for 3" for the Yankees, with a double and two singles and John Melchoir stroked two singles in two trips.

How to Play Par Golf

Head Remains in Fixed Position

By JULIUS BOROS
(1951 U. S. Open Champ)

Assuming the proper stance and address with a medium iron, you are naturally looking down with the head slightly back of the ball.

The head remains in an almost fixed position throughout the back and downswings. It remains down and over the ball just after the ball has been contacted.

The old belief that the head never moves is wrong. As the body turns, the head must rotate with it. The movement of the head that would affect the shot would be a lateral movement or a bobbing up and down of the chin in relation to the chest.

The wrists unleash their power and send the ball into flight. The weight shifts to the left side. The right elbow is held close to the side.

You will gradually establish your vardage capacities with medium irons. Generally speaking, the 4 iron will carry about 160 yards, the 5 something like 150 and the six approximately 140. It is impossible to establish a definite table of yardage for the various irons that will apply to all golfers, of course. The difference may vary as much as 10 yards with each iron, depending on the individual.

Don't force medium irons.

If there is any doubt in your mind, select the larger size club. It is always better to overclub than underclub. You attain more accuracy swinging easier with more club than harder with less club.

Perfect that swing. Don't be concerned with trying to make medium irons accomplish what long irons will do easier. At the same time, though, don't baby medium iron shots.

Hit the ball firmly and crisply.

SHIFT — Julius Boros' wrists unleash their power and send the ball into flight. The weight shifts to the left side. The right elbow is held close to the side. (NEA)

The irons are accuracy instruments.

Attempt Is Made To Enter Stand at Uptown Stadium

The door on the men's room at the municipal stadium was broken sometime during the night and an attempt made to enter the refreshment concession, it was reported at 2:32 a. m. today by Officers Meyer Levy and Sheldon O'Rourke.

Apparently nothing was missing, it was reported, but Detective Clarence Brophy said he was investigating further.

On Sunday, June 2, detectives arrested two teen-age youths, 14 and 15 years of age, charged with breaking into the locker rooms at the stadium on two different occasions, once during the latter part of May and the second time about a week later.

On the first visit they got nothing, Brophy said, but the second time he said they took a stop watch belonging to Coach G. Warren Kias of Kingston High School and five baseballs, the property of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association. Both the watch and the balls were recovered by detectives.

Ridgway to Leave Early

Paris, June 30 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, newly-appointed U. S. Army chief of staff, is going home July 11, six days early, to take part in conferences in the United States, an announcement from his NATO headquarters near here said. Ridgway will turn over supreme command of NATO forces in Europe to Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, now his chief of staff, on July 11 and leave by plane for Washington.

Zone Exemptions Expire

Albany, June 30 (AP)—Zone exemptions from the weight-distance tax on big trucks expire tomorrow, and the state figures it will gain five million dollars a year in revenue. The Tax Department, noting that trucks operating exclusively within cities, villages or Public Service Commission zones will no longer be exempt, made the estimate yesterday.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Pitching—Paul Minner, Chicago Cubs, gave up six hits and walked only one in winning his fourth game of the season, 6-2, over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Batting—Red Schoendienst, St. Louis Cardinals, singled and doubled to run his total hits for the season to 101, the first man in either league to reach 100.

Norm Heppner Wins With Six-Hitter

By a coincidence the undefeated Miron Indians of the National Little League have beaten every other club in the circuit in the second round.

The first half champions made only six hits off Lance McAndrew yesterday—same number as the Trailway Tigers—but they had a substantial 12-4 margin in runs when the game ended.

Norm Heppner was the winning hurler as the Indians made it three straight. Three of the Tiger safeties went to heavy hitting Abe Levy, the catcher, who stroked three singles in four trips. He was the only player on either team with more than one hit.

The Indians scored five runs in the second frame and then staged three-run rallies in the fourth and sixth.

Police Tossers Upset Legion in FYL, 4-3

Four-Run Inning Gives Giannuzzi Hard Earned Win

Elks Club Alone At Top of League

The Fraternal Youth League experienced its first major upset of the season yesterday, when Lorenzo Giannuzzi of the Kingston Patrolmen's Ass. nine bested three hurlers of the American Legion for a 4-3 squeaker.

The loss was the first in three games for the Legion and squared the KPA record at 2 and 2. Elks Club now holds first place alone with two wins and no setbacks.

While Giannuzzi was pitching effectively in the clutches, the Police enjoyed one big inning to achieve the upset. They scored four times in the fourth and that was just enough.

Giannuzzi permitted only three hits—all singles—and struck out six. The Police collected seven hits off the Legion trio. Ernie Madison, the Police centerfielder, doubled for the only extra base hit of the contest.

Legion Scores First

A two out error by George Hamilton set up the Legion Marker in the first. Bob Weishaupt got a life on the play. Frank Weishaupt followed with another bobble and Bob crossed the plate.

The big Police fourth developed quickly with Bob Raible and Art Moshis spanking singles. After George Norton grounded out, Ernie Madison lined a double to center, scoring Moshis and Raible to send the Police ahead 2-1.

Mike Perry's error gave Weishaupt a life and Giannuzzi aided his own cause with a single to center, scoring Madison and sending Danny Steltz to the showers. Bob Maines came on in relief. George Hamilton was awarded first base because of catcher's interference and Maines uncorked a wild pitch on which Frank Weishaupt scored the fourth run of the inning.

Rally With Two Outs

Down to their last out, the Legion rallied for two markers in the fifth. Don Van Buren drew a walk and went to second on a wild pitch. George Hamilton's two base error sent Van Buren home and Ron Ferraro to second. Bobby Dykes delivered Ferraro with a single but Weishaupt fanned to end the inning.

Bob Raible and Lorenzo Giannuzzi had two hits each for the Police.

Boice Fans Nine, Boosts Total to 52

Charlie Boice and Don Krueger combined to pitch a five-hit, 6-2, victory for the Moose Club Red Sox over the Lions Club Yankees in the American Little League at the 156th FA diamond. The result left the teams tied for first place.

Boice was credited with the victory, his fifth in six starts. Bill Thomas was the loser, although he permitted only six hits and struck out nine. Boice and Krueger tied that total.

Boice's six strikeouts ran his seasonal total to 52 and Thomas now has 40. Frank Sammons, the Red Sox catcher, pounded a single, double and triple in three trips to boost his batting average from .588 to .621 to take over the league lead from Hobart Armstrong of the Dodgers, who was idle yesterday.

A pair of three-run innings turned the trick for the Red Sox, who opened with three in the first and got three more in the third.

Gerry McDonough also went "3 for 3" for the Yankees, with a double and two singles and John Melchoir stroked two singles in two trips.

How to Play Par Golf

Head Remains in Fixed Position

By JULIUS BOROS
(1951 U. S. Open Champ)

Assuming the proper stance and address with a medium iron, you are naturally looking down with the head slightly back of the ball.

The head remains in an almost fixed position throughout the back and downswings. It remains down and over the ball just after the ball has been contacted.

The old belief that the head never moves is wrong. As the body turns, the head must rotate with it. The movement of the head that would affect the shot would be a lateral movement or a bobbing up and down of the chin in relation to the chest.

The wrists unleash their power and send the ball into flight. The weight shifts to the left side. The right elbow is held close to the side.

You will gradually establish your yardage capacities with medium irons. Generally speaking, the 4 iron will carry about 160 yards, the 5 something like 150 and the six approximately 140. It is impossible to establish a definite table of yardage for the various irons that will apply to all golfers, of course. The difference may vary as much as 10 yards with each iron, depending on the individual.

Don't force medium irons.

If there is any doubt in your mind, select the larger size club. It is always better to overclub than underclub. You attain more accuracy swinging easier with more club than harder with less club.

Perfect that swing. Don't be concerned with trying to make medium irons accomplish what long irons will do easier. At the same time, though, don't baby medium iron shots.

Hit the ball firmly and crisply.

The irons are accuracy instruments.

The door on the men's room at the municipal stadium was broken sometime during the night and an attempt made to enter the refreshment concession, it was reported at 2:32 a. m. today by Officers Meyer Levy and Sheldon O'Rourke.

Apparently nothing was missing, it was reported, but Detective Clarence Brophy said he was investigating further.

On Sunday, June 2, detectives arrested two teen-age youths, 14 and 15 years of age, charged with breaking into the locker rooms at the stadium on two different occasions, once during the latter part of May and the second time about a week later.

On the first visit they got nothing, Brophy said, but the second time he said they took a stop watch belonging to Coach G. Warren Kias of Kingston High School and five baseballs, the property of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association. Both the watch and the balls were recovered by detectives.

Ridgway to Leave Early

Paris, June 30 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, newly-appointed U. S. Army chief of staff, is going home July 11, six days early, to take part in conferences in the United States, an announcement from his NATO headquarters near here said. Ridgway will turn over supreme command of NATO forces in Europe to Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, now his chief of staff, on July 11 and leave by plane for Washington.

Zone Exemptions Expire

Albany, June 30 (AP)—Zone exemptions from the weight-distance tax on big trucks expire tomorrow, and the state figures it will gain five million dollars a year in revenue. The Tax Department, noting that trucks operating exclusively within cities, villages or Public Service Commission zones will no longer be exempt, made the estimate yesterday.

Indians Take Third Straight 12-4 Over Tigers in National

Norm Heppner Wins With Six-Hitter

By a coincidence the undefeated Miron Indians of the National Little League have beaten every other club in the circuit in the second round.

The first half champions made only six hits off Lance McAndrew yesterday—same number as the Trailway Tigers—but they had a substantial 12-4 margin in runs when the game ended.

Norm Heppner was the winning hurler as the Indians made it three straight. Three of the Tiger safeties went to heavy hitting Abe Levy, the catcher, who stroked three singles in four trips. He was the only player on either team with more than one hit.

The Indians scored five runs in the second frame and then staged three-run rallies in the fourth and sixth.

The boxscore:

tending were promptly herded into Dr. Monen's dining room. Then the robbers rounded up a maid and Dr. Monen's daughter, Mrs. Isabel Whitehall, who also was in the house at the time. Dr. Monen was absent.

At first, the bandit quartet went about their business in a determined and rough manner. They bound and gagged the four persons with adhesive tape.

However, after a half-hour, when the victims complained of thirst, the intruders released them.

Soon patients started arriving. The robbers greeted them and took them into the dining room.

The thieves split up, a pair ransacking the house while the others stood guard in the dining room.

During the ordeal, the bandits raided Dr. Monen's refrigerator and passed out beer and soft drinks, crackers, cheese and raw carrots to their "guests."

The quartet leisurely relieved their captives of cash and jewelry. But they returned some watches and rings of modest value to the three patients, who pleaded they be allowed to keep the articles.

It was about 7:30 p. m. (EST) when Dr. Monen returned to her home and found the "party" going on. She was greeted by a robber, who demanded that she open a safe in a hall closet.

Her reply was a scream. Then she collapsed.

An inventory by their victims disclosed that the four obtained loot consisting of $345 and a $500 cocktail ring. Police said they apparently took nothing from the house.

TOOTHSOME PRIZE — The spirit of adventure paid off in lots of thrills and a real prize for Larry Cokenower, left, and Walter Myers, both of Wheeling, Ill. Using a snare-pole with a wire loop, they caught a four-and-one-half-foot alligator in the Des Plaines River.

Teachers will be Mrs. Joseph Watson, Mrs. Elsie Ingram, Mrs. Raymond LeFever, Mrs. Benjamin Stokes, Mrs. Albert Gibson, Mrs. Laurence Ennist, Mrs. Joseph Carlin and Miss Betty Vining.

Sunday services July 5 will begin at 9:45 a. m. A prayer meeting and Bible study has been scheduled for Wednesday, July 8.

The pastor, the Rev. Joseph E. Carlin, expects to attend the ministers' conference at Camp Pinnacle, July 6 to July 9.

In January, 1953, less than two per cent of the people of Great Britain were registered as unemployed.

Coroner Position Likely to Be Vacant Until Convention

A coroner will be elected in November to fill the unexpired term of Ernest A. Kelly of Kingston, who died on June 20.

Under provisions of the law, Governor Thomas E. Dewey may appoint a temporary coroner to hold office until the elected coroner assumes office January 1, 1954.

By custom, the governor probably will make the appointment upon the recommendation of the county chairman of the party to which the deceased coroner belonged, in this case Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Republican chairman of Ulster county.

Convention to Decide

With a number of aspirants known to be seeking the post, informed political observers believe that Senator Wicks will defer any recommendation for temporary appointment until after the unofficial Republican county convention on July 11. The candidate designated at that convention to fill the unexpired term will probably also be recommended for appointment to serve during the period from the time of the convention until January 1.

Although the post of coroner is a county office and candidates may be residents anywhere in the county, it is believed that Kingston residents will have the edge on any other candidates for the vacancy created by the death of Coroner Kelly, a resident of the city. The other two coroners serving at present come from outside the city, Dr. Charles Rosenstock of Ellenville, and Michael A. Galietta of Saugerties.

Galietta in Field

In addition to electing a coroner to fill Kelly's unexpired term, voters this November will elect a full term coroner. Michael A. Galietta, whose term expires, is expected to seek re-nomination at the Republican convention.

There is one year remaining in the term to which Coroner Kelly was elected.

In 1952, Britain exported about 70 per cent of her auto production.

Bandits Stage . . .

tending were promptly herded into Dr. Monen's dining room. Then the robbers rounded up a maid and Dr. Monen's daughter, Mrs. Isabel Whitehall, who also was in the house at the time. Dr. Monen was absent.

At first, the bandit quartet went about their business in a determined and rough manner. They bound and gagged the four persons with adhesive tape.

However, after a half-hour, when the victims complained of thirst, the intruders released them.

Soon patients started arriving. The robbers greeted them and took them into the dining room.

The thieves split up, a pair ransacking the house while the others stood guard in the dining room.

During the ordeal, the bandits raided Dr. Monen's refrigerator and passed out beer and soft drinks, crackers, cheese and raw carrots to their "guests."

The quartet leisurely relieved their captives of cash and jewelry. But they returned some watches and rings of modest value to the three patients, who pleaded they be allowed to keep the articles.

It was about 7:30 p. m. (EST) when Dr Monen returned to her home and found the "party" going on. She was greeted by a robber, who demanded that she open a safe in a hall closet.

Her reply was a scream. Then she collapsed.

An inventory by their victims disclosed that the four obtained loot consisting of $345 and a $500 cocktail ring. Police said they apparently took nothing from the house.

Coroner Position Likely to Be Vacant Until Convention

A coroner will be elected in November to fill the unexpired term of Ernest A. Kelly of Kingston, who died on June 20.

Under provisions of the law, Governor Thomas E. Dewey may appoint a temporary coroner to hold office until the elected coroner assumes office January 1, 1954.

By custom, the governor probably will make the appointment upon the recommendation of the county chairman of the party to which the deceased coroner belonged, in this case Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Republican chairman of Ulster county.

Convention to Decide

With a number of aspirants known to be seeking the post, informed political observers believe that Senator Wicks will defer any recommendation for temporary appointment until after the unofficial Republican county convention on July 11. The candidate designated at that convention to fill the unexpired term will probably also be recommended for appointment to serve during the period from the time of the convention until January 1.

Although the post of coroner is a county office and candidates may be residents anywhere in the county, it is believed that Kingston residents will have the edge on any other candidates for the vacancy created by the death of Coroner Kelly, a resident of the city. The other two coroners serving at present come from outside the city, Dr. Charles Rosenstock of Ellenville, and Michael A. Galietta of Saugerties.

Galietta in Field

In addition to electing a coroner to fill Kelly's unexpired term, voters this November will elect a full term coroner. Michael A. Galietta, whose term expires, is expected to seek re-nomination at the Republican convention.

There is one year remaining in the term to which Coroner Kelly was elected.

In 1952, Britain exported about 70 per cent of her auto production.

Republicans Seek Coalition Nominee

New York, June 30 (AP)—Republican leaders of the city's five boroughs declared last night they want a coalition candidate for mayor and gave other parties their pick of a dozen possibilities "worthy of the support of all groups in the community."

The list was announced on the eve of a final meeting today between representatives of the Liberal and Republican parties and the Citizens Non-Partisan Committee. At previous meetings these groups have been unable to agree on a candidate to run in the November election.

The Republican leaders put three Democrats on their list of 12 acceptable candidates. They were William C. Chanler, city corporation counsel under the late Mayor F. H. LaGuardia; John F. Brosnan, member of the State Board of Regents, and Frank S. Hogan, district attorney of Manhattan.

Others on the list have been prominently mentioned as possible candidates. They include Rep. Jacob K. Javits, elected to Congress with Republican-Liberal backing; presiding Justice David W. Peck of the Supreme Court Appellate Division, First Department; and Robert Moses, city construction co-ordinator.

Proud of Record

The GOP leaders said they were "proud of the 12 years of clean, decent, high-minded government given to the City of New York under the leadership of Mayor LaGuardia, whom our party nominated and supported in 1929, 1933, 1937 and 1941."

LaGuardia was defeated in 1929 but was elected in 1933 on a Fusion "good government" ticket.

The Republicans said, "the present government of the city has fallen into the hands of opportunists and incompetents."

The statement was issued by John R. Crews of Brooklyn, Thomas J. Curran of Manhattan, Robert J. Johnson of Staten Island, Frank Kenna of Queens and John J. Knewitz of the Bronx.

Also included on their list of possible candidates were:

State Housing Commissioner Herman Stichman; Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan, wartime head of the O. S. S.; New York Acting Postmaster Harold Riegelman; Frederick V. P. Bryan, former Republican office holder; Robert K. Christenberry, chairman of the state athletic commission; and Mary H. Donlon, chairman of the state workmen's compensation board.

Says Capital Unfriendly

Boston, June 30 (AP)—Two top officials of the American Newspaper Guild (CIO) says the national administration is "unfriendly" to labor and "wedding to big business." Guild President Harry Martin told delegates to the Union's 20th annual convention yesterday that a change in the political climate "has confronted us, as a labor organization, with an unfriendly administration for the first time in the adult life of many of you." Secretary-treasurer William J. Parson said: "Responsible people in the administration have pulled no punches in letting us know the present administration is wedded to big business."

Subject to Draft

Washington, June 30 (AP)—Doctors, dentists and veterinarians will be subject to draft calls for another two years under legislation signed yesterday by President Eisenhower.

Warns About Lead Paint

New York, June 30 (AP)—The City Health Department, alarmed by the deaths from lead poisoning of four children in recent weeks, has published a warning concerning indoor paint containing lead. Deputy Health Commissioner Jerome Trichter says five other children were treated for lead poisoning and three are still in the hospital. He said yesterday the department is having pamphlets printed, warning parents about letting children chew painted surfaces or eat paint peelings.
